THE AMERICAN ACADEMY OF POLITICAL AND SOCIAL SCIENCE.

The American Academy of Political and Social Science was formed in Philadelphia, December 14, 1889, for the purpose of promoting the study of political and social problems of the present day.

Besides the general fields of sociology, political science and economics, a special effort is made to collect and publish material dealing with the more important practical questions of the time, such as taxation, banking and finance, colonial policy, municipal government, public administration, education, charities and correction, national and international commerce, corporations, and the various phases of the labor problem.

In all of these departments of investigation it is the aim of the Academy not to espouse the view of a single school, but rather to offer the materials upon the basis of which an intelligent opinion may be formed.

Anyone may become a member of the Academy on being approved by the Membership Committee and paying the Annual fee of $5.00 or Life Membership fee of $100. Members are entitled to receive the regular publications of the Academy, submit papers and communications, and to attend and take part in all scientific meetings. Life members are exempt from all annual fees.

Papers and communications which the writers wish to submit to the Academy with a view to their being read in a Scientific Session or published in THE ANNALS, as well as applications for membership, should be sent to the following address:

American Academy of Political and Social Science,

WEST PHILA. STATION, PHILADELPHIA, PA.

N. B.—Fees and subscriptions may be remitted by postal order on Philadelphia, or by draft on New York, drawn to the order of the Treasurer, Mr. Stuart Wood, Box 4050, West Philadelphia Station, Philadelphia, or may be sent to B. S. Harvey, Esq., care of Messrs. Glyn, Mills, Currie & Co., 67 Lombard Street, London, E. C.

THE ANNALS OF THE AMERICAN ACADEMY OF POLITICAL AND SOCIAL SCIENCE

A bi-monthly periodical, sent free to members of the Academy. Each number contains about 200 pages, devoted to the proceedings of the Academy and to Leading Articles, Notes, Book Reviews, etc. Six numbers, making two volumes yearly. Important supplements. Subscription price to non-members, $6.00. Special rates to Libraries, $5.00.

THE ANNALS is the regular bi-monthly publication of the Academy. Each number contains several comprehensive articles treating in a scientific spirit some of the economic, social or political problems of the day. It gives space to educational discusssions and to scientific papers which do not appeal to the more popular journals.

The Publication Board has recently adopted the policy of issuing special volumes, each dealing with some important problem of public interest, instead of miscellaneous volumes containing a number of articles upon different subjects. In each volume, under the general subject of discussion, there are grouped contributions from a number of authoritative writers.

A prominent feature of THE ANNALS is seen in the Departments of Book Notes; Notes on Municipal Government; and Philanthropy, Charities and Social Problems, each under the editorship of a specialist, and constituting a most valuable record of current events.

THE ANNALS also includes occasional supplements, which are separate monographs or translations of notable foreign books. Among the volumes already issued separately as supplements to THE ANNALS are the following:

"Constitution of the United States of Colombia." Translated by BERNARD MOSES. Pp. 70.

"Constitutional and Organic Laws of France." Translated by C. F. A. CURRIER. Pp. 78.

"Constitution of the Kingdom of Prussia." Translated by JAMES HARVEY ROBINSON. Pp. 54.

"Constitution of Italy." Translated by L. S. ROWE and S. M. LINDSAY. Pp. 44.

"Constitution of Belgium." Translated by J. M. VINCENT. Pp. 40.

"History of Political Economy." By GUSTAV COHN, translated by J. A. HILL. Pp. 142.

"Inland Waterways." By EMORY R. JOHNSON. Pp. 164.

"Theory of Sociology." By FRANKLIN H. GIDDINGS. Pp. 80.

"Theory of Social Forces." By SIMON N. PATTEN. Pp. 151.

"Foreign Policy of the United States: Political and Commercial." Pp. 216. (Addresses and Discussion at the Third Annual Meeting of the Academy, April 7 and 8, 1899.)

"Corporations and Public Welfare." Pp. 208. (Addresses at the Fourth Annual Meeting of the Academy, April 19 and 20, 1900.)

"Selected Official Documents of the South African Republic and Great Britain." Edited by HUGH WILLIAMS and FREDERICK CHARLES HICKS. Pp. 72.

"Massachusetts Labor Legislation." By SARAH SCOVILL WHITTELSEY. Pp. 157.

"Housing Conditions in Jersey City." By MARY B. SAYLES. Pp. 72.

"The Pan-American Conferences and Their Significance." Pp. 22.

All of these supplements have been sent, together with THE ANNALS, as issued, without charge to members, and have served many persons, when bound up for a series of years, as the nucleus of a good reading library on social and economic subjects.

New members will be interested to know that the Academy can supply complete files of its publications from the date of organization. Terms sent on application.

THE ANNALS, complete from beginning in July, 1890, to June, 1906, 27 vols., cloth binding, $111.50; bound in leather, cloth sides, $125.00. This includes all Supplements bound with each volume and complete indexes. Separate volumes can be supplied as follows: Vols. I—V (Double volumes) Cloth, $6.50 each: Leather, $7.00 each. Vols. VI—XIX (Half-yearly volumes), Cloth, $3.50 each; XX—XXVII, $3.75 each; Leather, $4.00 and $4.25 respectively.

NOTICE TO PURCHASERS

Orders. Each order should be clearly written and signed by the purchaser. It should give the post-office, county, and State, and also indicate whether the goods are to be sent by mail, express, or freight; and, where the name of the railroad or express station differs from that of the post-office, it should be so stated.

Exact Titles. All orders should give the exact titles of the books as printed in our price lists; otherwise, we can not be held responsible for errors in shipping. In ordering by telegraph, purchasers should use the code words given in this Price List.

Order Early. Orders are usually filled on the day on which they are received, but just before the opening of schools this is not always possible. To insure prompt delivery due allowance should be made for unavoidable detentions and orders should be sent early.

Special. We supply only our own publications. Books sent as ordered are not returnable. Orders for first introduction must give the names of the books to be displaced as well as those to be introduced. Keys and Translations will be supplied to teachers only.

Remittances. Each order should be accompanied by a remittance, unless the purchaser has an open account. Remittances by draft are preferred, but post-office money orders or express money orders may be used, if more convenient. Purchasers who wish to open an account should apply for terms and give references showing financial ability, promptness, and general responsibility.

Advice to a Wife and Advice to a Mother. Dr. P. H. Chavasse. The two published in one volume. Many young women hesitate, through a feeling of delicacy, to seek even from their own mothers a proper knowledge of their own sexual peculiarities, though their future health and happiness may depend upon their possessing such knowledge. But a book may be consulted without alarming the modesty of the most delicate, provided it be honestly written for the benefit of its readers. Such is Chavasse's work, which has had on both sides of the Atlantic a circulation of nearly four hundred thousand copies. The reason of this popularity is plain, the book answers every question which a woman would like or need to have answered relative to herself as a woman from early girlhood to the change in life. The information is given in language that persons of the most moderate education can understand ; the knowledge imparted is exact, and acquaintance with it will often save the need of applying to a physician. "'Songs for the Little Ones at Home' has been a favorite in my family for two generations. I am glad to have a new copy to put into the hands of the weeest of the flock—the baby granddaughter who is now my special charge. None of the more modern 'jingles' and 'collections' have ever superseded it in our hearts."

MARION HARLAND.

"For pure, sweet, spiritual culture for little children, I know no book of poetry so practical and usable as 'Songs for the Little Ones at Home.' My mother used it in her family; we use it in ours."

REV. G. B. F. HALLOCK, D.D.

"Welcome, a new edition of a precious favorite. In all the profusion of child literature there is nothing purer or sweeter than this. Its quaint pictures and simple songs of nature and home-love must recall to many a mother long silent voices in her own nursery life; more than that, to some it will bring sacred memories of lisping lips in whose last hours were bits of song from its pages. To thousands more may the little treasure cause blessed impressions in verse and song."

VERILIES OF JESUS, THE. By Rev. David J. Burrell, D.D., LL.D. 12mo. 200 pp. Cloth..... 1 00

The word "Verily" was often used by the Saviour in His teachings. It is a remarkable fact that none of the apostolic writers have ventured to preface their words with this striking expression. It almost seems as though, as Dr. Burrell suggests, the Master had a divine copyright on the word.

Dr. Burrell is certainly at his best in this exposition of the sayings of Jesus which are thus prefaced. He groups them under twenty-seven subjects, and in his characteristic and forceful manner explains their meaning. The volume is, however, not only expository, but also devotional in its matter. Without waste of words, the author dips deeply into these wonderful sayings and draws out their most significant teachings.

Outline of the Life of Christ

By Rev. John H. Kerr, D.D., author of "Introduction to New Testament Study." xxiii. 236 pp. Sm. 4to. Cloth. $1.00 net.

PERSONAL TESTIMONIES

Mitchell, Prof. C. A., Omaha Theological Seminary, says:

"I have examined it with care and am much pleased with it. It has many excellencies. First of all, it is in the American Revised Version, the queen of all English versions. Secondly, its outline and chronological arrangement of the life of Christ is one of the best, and is so clearly presented as to be most helpful to any one studying the Gospels. And, thirdly, the volume is an excellent piece of book-making, attractive in appearance and convenient for use."

Crane, Prof. L. B., Chicago Theological Seminary, says:

"I have already made some use of the Harmony. I find it very useful. The American Standard Revision text is a great advantage, and so far as I have examined the book, I think the sections are wisely placed."

Beardslee, Prof. John W., Western Theological Seminary, says:

"I have examined the Harmony with great pleasure. I believe the method chosen will be most satisfactory to those who desire to know how the different Gospel writers have related the same incident."

Ryder, Prof. William H., Andover Theological Seminary, says:

"I am sure it will prove most helpful to many students of the Gospels."

PRESS NOTICES

"The book fills a place where careful work is now much needed. For the general reader, no less than for the Sunday-school worker, it will prove most helpful."—Christian Intelligencer.

"The book will be found a very valuable assistance."—The Bible Student.

"The work has special excellence in its carefulness of arrangement, historical accuracy and thoughtful discrimination. Dr. Kerr is to be congratulated on producing a work of such excellence, which will be a most satisfactory guide to careful students in the study of the Gospels."—Herald and Presbyter.

"Whatever other work of this kind the student may have, it will be well to add this one."—Pittsburg Christian Advocate.

"The compilation is the result of years of instruction as a theological professor, and the arrangement is most felicitous."—Christian Union Herald.

"Careful students of Christ's life will appreciate this systematic presentation of the narrative materials."—Auburn Seminary Review.

"An excellent arrangement of the Gospels, very convenient for comparing the different accounts of the four writers, showing at a glance by the parallel columns on the page the correspondence and variations or the total silence of one or more."—Zion's Herald.

CRUDEN'S CONCORDANCE

Edited by Rev. John Eadie. This book, containing over 150,000 distinct references to passages in the Scriptures, is invaluable to the student of the Word. It gives not only the reference, but also the connection, thus enabling a person with ease to find the passage sought. It is printed in plain, clear type, on fine paper, making an elegant octavo volume of 561 pages.

Cloth, $1.00.

BIBLE TEXT-BOOK

This is a short yet very comprehensive cyclopædia of the contents of the Holy Scriptures; in fact, a "Topical Concordance." All Bible places, persons and subjects are arranged alphabetically, and under each word is given the texts bearing upon the same. This book has been most carefully revised, very greatly enlarged, and is printed from new plates. It has the "Bible Student's Manual," with indexes, tables of various kinds, and a complete set of maps. It is one of the most useful and complete "Bible Helps" published.

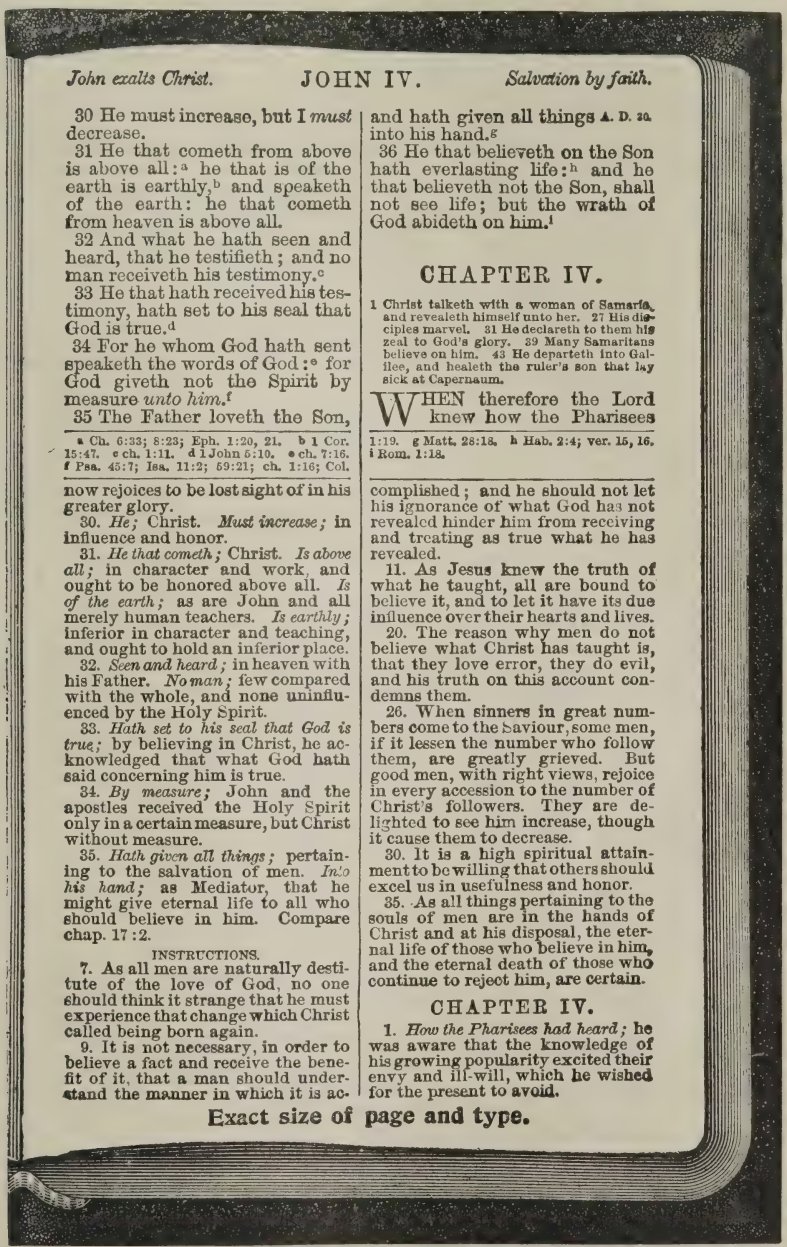
THE NEW TESTAMENT With Notes, Instructions and References.

POCKET EDITION. Printed on fine, thin paper, bound in leather, divinity circuit, red under gold edges. Size, 5¾ x 3¾ x ¾ inches. Price, 1.00 Postpaid.



Exact size of page and type.

THE CHRISTIAN NATION SAYS: "A want is felt for a New Testament that can be carried in the pocket and at the same time contains helps. This book is printed in clear type, with references and comprehensive notes covering about half of each page. At the beginning of each book is a short history of the same, and at the beginning under the names and order of all the books of the New Testament is the time and order given in which they were written. A synopsis of Robinson's Harmony of the Gospels, a chronological table of the whole Bible, a table of weights and measures, and the heights of sacred localities are also given."

THE CHRISTIAN OBSERVER SAYS: "The notes in this edition are exceedingly clear and pointed. They go right to the root of the matter. They are brief, and yet full of thought and information. There are introductions to the Epistles explaining their general scope."

THE CHRISTIAN PRESS SAYS: "We know of no book which is more worthy of a popular reception than this beautiful Testament. It contains, ready to hand, much of the material needed in reading the Bible."

By C. C. CREEGAN, D. D.—A most informing book concerning twenty-six great missionary characters. Most valuable for Mission study classes.

Family Bible, with Notes and Instructions.

Size, 11½ by 9½ and 3 inches thick.

This valuable edition of the Bible has been issued in a new form, making it a most convenient book for family use.

The Notes and Explanations are concise, and at the same time give the results of the best study; and the authors had no theory to establish, but simply strive to show what is the mind of the Spirit regarding the Word.

It contains Explanatory Notes and Practical Instructions by Rev. Justin Edwards, D. D., revised by Rev. Prof. E. P. Barrows, on each chapter, giving in a condensed form the results of the best learning and piety; Introductions to all the books, Marginal References, Harmony of the Gospels, a set of six maps, beautifully printed and colored, various Tables of Weights, Measures, Chronology, six good steel plates, etc., with the "Bible Gazetteer," which contains a list of the geographical names, and showing where they may be found on the maps, Family Record on finest paper, etc., the whole making a book that for real usefulness cannot be surpassed.

An Episcopal clergyman who purchased it as his companion on a summer journey, writes: "While absent I carefully read all the Notes and Instructions, and examined the Maps, Introductory Notices to the different books, Harmony of the Gospels, Chronological Tables, and References. I cannot do justice to my convictions without expressing the belief that the English language does not contain elsewhere so large an amount of valuable instruction in a small compass, at a moderate price."

The "New York Methodist" says: "In accuracy and critical trustworthiness no other annotated English Bible approaches this, while its low price brings it within reach of all."

Thirteen stories and each of these stories has a man; but perhaps the most interesting characters in the stories are found in the animals. Mr. Fraser is inimitable in this vein $1.50

By J. Aquila Kempster. SALVAGE.

The story of a man desperate almost to the point of suicide. A strange accident at once places means of beginning life anew at his disposal and also sends him, as he thinks, a murderer from his own land; Fate throws him into close relationship with his supposed victim and the complications lead to an exciting and mystifying plot $1.50

A model historical primer, full in its statements, discriminating in its selection of events, clear and direct in its style, and comprehensive in its general outline of American affairs. The value of such a book is apparent at a glance. Of large histories of the United States there is no lack, but of shorter histories there is great need. It represents an amount of work of which its brief pages give no adequate impression.

Hence this Menu Book. It contains a menu for every meal in the year arranged by months and days; menus for special occasions; illustrations of decorated tables for various social events, with appropriate menus; a department of menus without meats. It will be found a great help in the every day affairs of the household, at the same time giving full directions regarding many social affairs. The new book is an advance in many particulars, because Domestic Science has advanced with rapid strides during the past ten years. This book is Domestic Science at its best.

It covers all departments of cookery thoroughly and well. A masterly exposition of each subject is given in a general way, with chemical analyses where necessary and then particular divisions of each subject are explained, so that a thorough understanding may be had. Then follows an abundance of recipes for the proper preparation and cooking of the various kinds of foods.

Indispensable to Preachers and Pastors. The value of this work can not be overestimated. It is a treasure house of the richest and most profound meditations on the Gospel Lessons for the Church Year, by the universally acknowledged prince of Bible expositors and preachers. Another such a thesaurus of deep theology, practical piety, and homiletical suggestiveness can scarcely be found in the whole field of Biblical literature.

A work for the Home and the Pew. It is not alone for the preacher and pastor and the theological student, but it is an equally valuable handbook for the family and the pew. It should be in every home and in the hands of every lay member of the congregation, being a great help to the practical understanding of the Gospel for the day and to intelligent participation in the services of the sanctuary as well as a powerful stimulus to the pious study of the Word in the home. For three centuries these incomparable sermons, in their original German, have yielded nourishment, edification, strength and comfort to millions of souls, and they are as fresh and attractive to-day as when they first came from the pen of their author.

Special attention is called to the fact that the price has been reduced, thus bringing this valuable work within the reach of all.

THE STORY OF THE CHURCHES.

Each volume ..... Net, 1 00

The books average about 40,000 words, 250 to 300 pages, and are small 12mos, with attractive frontispieces. This series grew out of the need felt for popular church histories, brief enough to interest the average church member and not long enough to discourage him by a too great number of pages. The books are designed to answer the often asked question, "What is a Baptist?" or "What is a Presbyterian?" etc., and to clear up many traditional errors in the opinions of the members of one denomination regarding the history and creed of the other sects, and even of their own.

"Such a plan is heartily to be welcomed. We must know more of one another if we are to understand one another, and we must understand one another better if we are to co-operate for the Christianizing of this country and the evangelization of the world."—The Churchman, New York.

By RUSSELL STURGIS. 4to, 80 illustrations.....Net, 1 50
The fourth volume in The Popular Art Series. *STURGIS . HOW TO JUDGE ARCHITECTURE

*STURGIS . A HISTORY OF ARCHITECTURE
By RUSSELL STURGIS. Three volumes, cloth, gilt top and ornamented gold back, plain sides.....Per set, net, 15 00
Half morocco .....Per set, net, 22 50
The volumes will each contain upwards of two hundred halftones, an equal number of line drawings of details and plans and several gelatine prints. This work supplies a great want in architectural books, namely, an authentic and reliable, critical and narrative history of architecture. From his long experience as a prracticing architect, his great researches, and his acknowledged position as the leading critic of art and architecture in this country, Mr. Sturgis is probably the best equipped man in America at least, to undertake this work. The book will cover the entire field of architecture from the earliest Egyptian, Assyrian and Babylonian, to modern times, and in all this inquiry the domestic architecture of this period, heretofore largely overlooked, will be carefully examined. Probable dates of publications: Volume I, Autumn 1906; Volume II, April 1907; Volume III, October 1907.

DAYS AND DEEDS

An Anthology of Verse for Children's Reading and Speaking

Compiled by BURTON E. STEVENSON
and ELIZABETH B. STEVENSON

Cloth edition, 400 pages, 232 poets, 406 poems, net $1.00, by mail $1.10. Especial Library Binding, net $1.50.

This anthology, the outgrowth of the demand felt at Mr. Stevenson's library for a proper selection of verse for school exercises, has been bound especially for libraries in a flexible binding with a leather back, reinforced signatures, especially strong hinges, washable cloth and tinted edges—an ideal library binding, both for its durability and because it will not show dirt.

DOCTRINE AND INSTRUCTION

ANECDOTES AND EXAMPLES ILLUSTRATING THE CATHOLIC CATECHISM. Selected and arranged by Rev. Francis Spirago. Supplemented, adapted to the Baltimore Catechism, and edited by Rev. James J. Baxter, D.D. With complete Indices. 12mo . . . . . net, 1.50

The great value of examples and illustrations in teaching children and the uneducated is universally acknowledged. The reason of this is that examples stimulate the imitative instinct in most people, especially in the young, consequently they are a powerful factor in education. Judgment, however, is needed in the selection. For the young, none but the best is good enough. Let them be few, but good. It is a mistake to make use of too many, and only the best should be chosen. These examples are free from superfluous or irrelevant matter. They are interesting and of an edifying and elevating character. The book will be found invaluable to all engaged in the instruction of the young.

The Encyclical Letters of the late illustrious Pope in themselves constitute a large literature, and this literature deals with questions of the most varied kind, all living questions and such as have lost not a jot of interest from the moment the Pope dealt with them in his own great, learned, authoritative way to this very hour. This is no ephemeral literature; its value is certain to increase, rather than diminish, with the coming years, fraught with the problems with which Pope Leo so masterfully struggled. — Catholic Standard and Times.

This "Theology for the Laity" is offered as an intelligent and practical guide to all honest souls on their pilgrimage to heaven. Its object is to give concise, yet systematic exposition of the reason and authority of religion.

The plan which it observes is: 1, to investigate the fundamental ideas of religion, as proposed by Reason and History; 2, to study Revealed Religion, both in its supernatural truths and in its divinely ordained practice; 3, to show how the true religion of to-day logically follows from these two premises.

(Easy payment plan, 1.00 down, 2.00 a month. You get the books at once and have the use of them while making easy payments. We forward the complete set on receipt of one dollar.)

It may be safely affirmed that this great work has made the author's name immortal. No other work in our language — we believe we may say with perfect truth, no other work in any language — presents so completely, so felicitously from every point of view, the claims of the Catholic Church to the veneration, love, and obedience of every existing human being.

It may be said to be a picture of the life of the Christian world, so accurately photographed that no feature is wanting that could be required to give due expression to the whole, in which the portraiture is so faithful that the inner life is expressed as well as the outer semblance.

Its pages will be for many a priest, and for many a Catholic layman, the joy and refreshment they have been for us, bringing into the restless heart of this nineteenth century something of the peace and heaven-turned love of those ages of faith. — Irish Ecclesiastical Record.

SAINT FRANCIS OF ASSISI, Social Reformer. By Rev. Leo L. Dubois, S.M. 12mo . . . . . net, 1.00

"Francis, born in an age of faith, feeling and enthusiasm, but also of social unrest, became the reformer of God's Church as the natural outcome of his love for God and for everything which God has created. A strenuous Saint, but none the less open to all the tenderest human sentiments; a poet, a troubadour, a chevalier in character and in aspirations, intensely in love with a poor, abandoned, but chaste maiden, 'La donna Poverta.' Francis, feeling that he had received from God the mission to convert the world and to restore the peace and happiness which ought to reign among His children, went to the people, to the poor and to the rich, to the laymen and to the clergy, to the great and to the lowly, captivating all, not only by his charming character, but also by his unstudied and unaffected, yet irresistible eloquence; thus becoming the soul of a popular movement which spread all over Europe and made itself felt in all parts of the world then known."

THOUGHTS AND AFFECTIONS ON THE PASSION OF JESUS CHRIST FOR EVERY DAY OF THE YEAR. Taken from Holy Scripture and the Writings of the Fathers of the Church. By Fra M. da Bergamo, Capuchin. New Translation by the Passionist Fathers of the United States.
8vo . . . . . net, 2.00

This is decidedly the best book of meditations ever written on the Passion. The subject is treated historically. Scripture, prophecy, and fact are brought in naturally and beautifully, and every commentary of the Fathers on the subject is interwoven with the text so gracefully as to cause no break in the continuity of thought or style. The "Thoughts and Affections" of the writer, while original, are not far-fetched. They are at all times suggestive. They open up new vistas to the mind and aid it in realizing the meaning of the Passion of the Incarnate Word. The meditations are exceedingly devout. Devotion in them is not mere sentiment; it is grounded on holy doctrine. It is solid devotion, not ephemeral emotion. Action naturally follows decision of the will; this decision proceeds from conviction of the mind; conviction results from enlightenment; and enlightenment is the outcome of reflection. The author simply follows this process in his "Thoughts and Affections."

"NOT A JUDGMENT—." A Novel. By Grace Keon. 12mo 1.25

The writer's sympathies are so strong and true, so distinct with tenderness, and her word-pictures are so graphic, that every scene rises sharply before the reader, keeping heart and mind engrossed in the fortunes of this daughter of the tenements.

ONE AFTERNOON, and Other Stories. By Marion Ames Taggart. 8vo 1.25

It is not every one who is fortunate enough to be able to travel around the globe. Still, one can enjoy some of the delights of travel, while avoiding its discomforts and its dangers, in a prosy way, while sitting serenely at home. This is a good book of travel, filled with bright illustrations, such as the one here offered.

I like the new book "Round the World" very much, and I congratulate you on your good taste and sound judgment in the selection of the exceedingly interesting articles of which this volume is made up. It is as fascinating as fiction and as instructive as history. We want more of such books. — Rev. F. X. LASANCE.

RULER OF THE KINGDOM, THE, and other Phases of Life and Character. By Grace Keon. 12mo 1.25

Fourteen short stories comprise this interesting volume. And it is interesting in the best sense of the word. It is an ideal gift-book. It is a book that even the wisest will read with pleasure and with profit, and the less thoughtful with delight. Those who wish to read an exquisite collection of short stories should get this book. It is far above the ordinary; well told; the language simple but smooth; and the stories, every one of them, bearing the stamp of originality.

TALISMAN, THE. By Anna T. Sadlier. 16mo 0.60

The young hero of this story is mixed up with the saving of the famous Connecticut charter, preserves the town of Hartford from an Indian massacre, and is taken prisoner. It is a story of action and incident, and is very well told.

THAT MAN'S DAUGHTER. By Henry M. Ross. 12mo 1.25

A very good story. . . . There is a well-constructed plot, with some originality, and the dialogue is brisk and entertaining. The literary style is good, and the story altogether is attractive and well worth reading. — Catholic Book Notes, London.

The Red Inn of St. Lyphar. A Romance of La Vendée. By Anna T. Sadlier. 8vo 1.25

The story is well told, without any of the verbose halts that characterize many historical novels, and it will be widely welcomed. — The New Century.

THE SENIOR LIEUTENANT'S WAGER, and Other Stories. A collection of thirty short stories by thirty of the foremost writers. 8vo 1.25

Altogether it would be hard to find a fuller book than this. The authors have used up a great amount of material which might have been diluted into many pages. It is a book that may be enjoyed for a few moments or an hour at a time, and it makes in every part of it for high thinking and righteous living. — MAURICE F. EGAN.

True Story of Master Gerard, The. A Novel. By Anna T. Sadlier. 12mo 1.25

One of the most thoroughly original and delightful romances ever evolved from the pen of a Catholic writer.

Unravelling of a Tangle, The. By Marion A. Taggart. With 4 full-page illustrations. Handsomely bound 1.25

Vocation of Edward Conway, The. A Novel. By Maurice F. Egan. 12mo 1.25

This is a novel of modern American life. The scene is laid in a pleasant colony of cultivated people, on the banks of the Hudson, not far from West Point, and the military element enters into the story. A competent critic pronounces this the best novel Mr. Egan has written.

WAY THAT LED BEYOND, THE. By J. Harrison, author of "Kind Hearts and Coronets." 12mo 1.25

Among novels of recent date "The Way that Led Beyond" is altogether superior to the run of popular books issued for Catholic readers. This is true also of "Kind Hearts and Coronets" by the same writer. — Ecclesiastical Review.

WHERE THE ROAD LED, and Other Stories. By Anna T. Sadlier, Mary T. Waggaman, Magdalen Rock, Mary E. Mannix, Mary G. Bonesteel, Eugenie Uhlrich, Maurice F. Egan, Mary F. Nixon-Roulet, Katharine Tynan Hinkson, Clara Mulholland, Mary C. Crowley, Mrs. Francis Chadwick, Jerome Harte, Alice Richardson. 8vo 1.25

This is a collection of short stories which, I believe, will please the most fastidious taste. The volume comprises twenty-eight stories, all of which will, undoubtedly, live in the literature of short storydom. Most of them, as is entirely proper, are delicate little idyls of love, containing a breath as sweet as the wild rose, and as pure as the bluebell. And after all this literary aroma is not so much to be wondered at when the list of the authors is scanned. It contains the names of nearly all the foremost American Catholic short-story writers, and one or two of Ireland's best. — Rev. J. E. COPUS, S.J.

Woman of Fortune, A. By Christian Reid. 12mo . . 1.25

That great American Catholic novel for which so much inquiry is made, a story true in its picture of Americans at home and abroad, entirely inoffensive in its references to Protestants, and yet deeply and devoutly Catholic. As a mere story it is admirable, well planned, and well written. — The Pilot.

World Well Lost, The. By Esther Robertson. 16mo 0.75

A charming story, highly interesting, and delightfully told.

COPUS, REV. J. E., S.J. [Cuthbert]. Tom Losely: Boy. 12mo, with Frontispiece 0.85

This new volume from the pen of Father Copus deals with the small boy and with his home life. The title itself has something suggestive about it. The story discloses the fact that Tom is a real live boy, and in the main a good boy although full of pranks and mischief. Incidentally, and sometimes by a mere word and often "between the lines," Father Copus cleverly gives many a salutary hint to mothers and fathers on the important duty of managing children. The writer knows boys and boy nature, and small boys and small-boy nature too, as few who have delved into this class of difficult but useful literature.

Shadows Lifted. 12mo, with frontispiece 0.85

Partly a college and partly a family, or home, story, the book possesses a double interest, and certainly the family history will prove thrillingly interesting, relating, as it does, some weird and wonderful circumstances.

Harry Russell, a Rockland College Boy. 12mo . . 0.85

In "Harry Russell" Father Copus has opened a new field. His characters are no longer in knickerbockers, nor is their tale confined to the college walls or the college term. He has taken the college hero where Father Finn has left him, through the years to graduation and his first rude buffets on the way to fortune.

Saint Cuthbert's. 12mo 0.85

A truly inspiriting tale, full of excitement, events crowding one upon the other, happenings and incidents that will interest every boy reader.

DORSEY, ELLA LORAINE. Pickle and Pepper. 12mo, with Frontispiece 0.85

A charming story for children, which will be enjoyed by older folk as well. The story is clever and witty — there is not a dull page. Miss Dorsey is certainly the Catholic Louisa Alcott. — Catholic News.

The Taming of Polly. 12mo, with Frontispiece . . 0.85

Polly, with her cool head, her pure heart, and stern Western sense of justice, will be as helpful to the American girl as "Tom Playfair," "Percy Wynn," and "Harry Dee" have been to the American boy. — The Catholic Advocate.

FATHER FINN'S STORIES. Father Finn is universally acknowledged the foremost Catholic writer of fiction for young folks. Not so long ago there were no Catholic boys in fiction. And though there were great crowds of story-tellers, there was none to give a picture of the American Catholic boy until Father Finn came.

"But thy Love and thy Grace," see page 38.

His First and Last Appearance. With original drawings by Charles Svendsen. 8vo 1.00

This kindly Jesuit understands the juvenile and he knows how to captivate his fancy. Therefore "His First and Last Appearance" is what it might be expected to be, a vivid and interesting boy's story, which is not, however, lacking in attractiveness for the adult reader. An added charm is given to the work by the style with which it has been gotten up by the publishers. The illustrations are novel in books of this kind. — The Republic.

FATHER FINN'S STORIES (Cont'd).

Harry Dee; or, Working It Out. 12mo, with Frontispiece. 0.85

This is a downright good Catholic tale for boys, full of adventures and hair-breadth escapes, teeming with wonderful cricket, football, and baseball matches. We wish books like this were more plentiful. — The Catholic Times, Liverpool.

Tom Playfair; or, Making a Start. 12mo, with Frontispiece 0.85

It is the best boy's book that ever came from the press. — Michigan Catholic.

Percy Wynn; or, Making a Boy of Him. 12mo, with Frontispiece 0.85

If "Percy Wynn" does not supersede "Tom Brown" in the affections of Catholic boys, it will be the fault of the parents in not presenting the book to them. — The Pilot.

Mostly Boys. Short Stories. 12mo, with Frontispiece 0.85

Full of the gay and stirring life of brook and meadow; they teem with blithesome fun and frolic, sunshine and the blue sky, trees and flowers, and the things of nature. — Notre Dame Scholastic.

Mr. Egan has a flow and felicity of expression, and a happy knack in the selection of points to illustrate them, which justify and explain his popularity as a writer of tales and sketches. — Catholic World Magazine.

Flower of the Flock, The, and the Badgers of Belmont. 12mo 0.85

There is nothing preachy about this book. Incidents amusing or thrilling follow one another as naturally as the bloom the bud. There is not a boy or girl who, after taking up the book, will not be reluctant to lay it aside till he or she has seen Miles and Reginald and their interesting friends safely out of their troubles.

JACK HILDRETH ON THE NILE. Adapted from the original of C. May, by Marion Ames Taggart. 12mo 0.85

"Jack Hildreth on the Nile" has the same qualities as its predecessors; courage, truth, honest dealing with friend and foe are equally taught by example, while the story is even more exciting.

Winnetou, the Apache Knight. Edited by Marion Ames Taggart. 12mo 0.85

In the present volume Jack Hildreth goes West, meets Winnetou under tragic circumstances, is captured by him and sentenced to die. How he escapes and how they become fast friends is shown through chapters of breathless interest. — Catholic Mirror.

The Treasure of Nugget Mountain. Edited by Marion Ames Taggart. 12mo 0.85

The ride for life from the lake of petroleum with horse and rider clogged by the fierce unreason of the boy Harry, is a piece of word-painting which has few counterparts in the language. — Rev. THOS. J. HAGGERTY, in Southern Messenger.

LOYAL BLUE AND ROYAL SCARLET. By Marion Ames Taggart. 12mo 0.85

To many it may seem a straining of words to pit this novel against Paul Leicester Ford's "Janice Meredith," whose story deals with the same feverish days of the Revolution. Nevertheless, in interest, freshness, and charm Marion Ames Taggart, though her name be not on the roster of the Bookman's immortals, is as sustained in her work as Paul Leicester Ford, whom the gods love to honor. — Southern Messenger.

THE MYSTERY OF HORNBY HALL. By Anna T. Sadlier. 12mo 0.85

This story is sure to stir the blood of every real boy and to delight with its finer touches the heart of every true girl. The way Miss Sadlier has handled the lights and shades, the contrasts of characters and situations, always sustaining the interest at white heat, is remarkable. It makes a tale exciting in its adventure, delicate in its sentiment, and altogether delightful.

MILLY AVELING. By Sara Trainer Smith. 12mo. . . 0.85

A dainty volume for a gift — a charming book for all the year around — is "Milly Aveling" — the latest and certainly the best story Sara Trainer Smith has ever written. — Catholic Register.

BEGINNINGS OF CHRISTIANITY, THE. By Rev. Thomas J. Shahan, S.T.D., J.U.L. 8vo . . . . . net, 2.00

The studies and discourses that are offered in this book deal with some general conditions of Christian life in the first three centuries of our era. In one way or another they illustrate certain phases and circumstances of those wonderful centuries before Constantine the Great, when the constitution and the institutions of the new religious society were developing on all sides within the vast Empire of Rome. A perennial charm must therefore attach to any narrative of the problems and vicissitudes of this era. Besides, Dr. Shahan has the happy faculty of bringing within the intellectual horizon of commonplace minds subjects which are not infrequently regarded as dry or uninteresting.

An authority on this subject, to whom the work was submitted for examination, calls it "a splendid, practical, and very useful work."

There are few books so essential to the American priest as this work, which is already deservedly popular among the clergy. The book is far superior to De Herdt and much more suitable to our circumstances. — American Ecclesiastical Review.

The Right Rev. Translator says that no book he had read on the subject seemed quite satisfactory. He began to read this, and was fairly carried away by its order, its precision, its luminous teaching, its deep spirituality, and its common sense. When he had read it through he put it aside for some months, and then took it up again. It was even more instructive, edifying, and delightful, thus fulfilling in a measure the conditions of a classic.

That this work deals with important matters is evident from its very title, and still more from a glance at its table of contents, which marks craniotomy, abortion, insanity, hypnotism, and the border-land of science as its subjects of discussion. That the work is remarkably original is apparent from the fact that no book in the English language covers to any extent the same field of study. The book will be of interest not only to physicians, but to clergymen, lawyers, and educated men generally.

NATURAL LAW AND LEGAL PRACTICE. Lectures delivered at the Law School of Georgetown University, by Rev. R. I. Holaind, S.J. 8vo . . . . . net, 1.75

The work is, in fact, an exhaustive treatise on philosophical jurisprudence. No subject in our university curriculums is more important than this. — The Irish Monthly.

The volume deals in a pithy, catechetical way with the administration of the sacraments, and is the first of a proposed series of handbooks which are designed to cover the entire field of Pastoral Theology. The method of question and answer adopted for these manuals makes their use in theological seminaries and for pastoral examinations of especial value. A priest about to perform any sacramental function will here find a clear outline of just what he has to provide and do. Ten minutes' careful reading insures the exact and edifying carrying out of the full ceremonial.

PRIEST IN THE PULPIT. A Manual of Homiletics and Catechetics. By Rev. I. Schuech. Edited by Rev. B. Luebbermann. New, revised edition. 8vo . . . . net, 1.50

Of the many encomiums showered upon the work after each edition, let it suffice to quote one of recent date, that of the Acta Pontificia, Vol. I., Fasc. I. This monthly brochure, published at Rome, devotes part of its space in each issue to some question of Pastoral Theology and bases its discussions and decisions on Schuech's Pastoral Theology, saying in explanation: "The work of Father Schuech is perfect in every respect and superior to any other of its kind. There is none better suited to our times, none that shows maturer judgment or furnishes more reliable information."

PASTORAL THEOLOGY. By Right Rev. William Stang, D.D., Bishop of Fall River. New, enlarged edition. 8vo . . . . . net, 1.50

Original, practical, thorough, one handy volume.

Wherever his book is read it will be enjoyed and recommended to others. . . . His chapters on preaching are worth whole volumes of long-winded rhetoric, and his words on catechising children are excellent. . . . There is no book to equal it in the English language. — Catholic Times, Liverpool.

This is not a mere text-book of Casuistry, but a clear, precise, and scientific exposition of the questions which a priest is called upon to solve in the confessional, or in his daily relations with the souls intrusted to his care. The author makes it a point to state in brief and terse language not only what is lawful or unlawful, but also what is expedient and advisable.

THEORY AND PRACTICE OF THE CONFESSIONAL. A Guide in the Administration of the Sacrament of Penance. By Dr. E. Schieler, Professor of Moral Theology. Edited by Rev. H. J. Heuser, D.D., Professor of Theology, Overbrook Seminary. Introduction by the Most Rev. S. G. Messmer, D.D. Second edition. 4to . . . . . net, 3.50

In this work, the missionary, the confessor, the director of consciences, finds not only all that he was taught in his moral theology, but he finds much, very much more; for the author has made the subject a specialty, which leads him to throw light upon every phase of the confessor's difficult task. And the whole matter is set forth in the language used daily in the confessional and with the penitents. The priest on the mission no longer regards the study of moral theology as a discipline by which to train his mind to the legal habits required in the sacred tribunal, but he views it as a practical exercise of his judicial functions in his daily pastoral life.

In conclusion we should say that the book is worth the careful study of every confessor, who will find it of invaluable assistance in his twofold duty of safeguarding the sacrament and advancing the cause of Christ in the souls of men. — The Messenger.

SERMONS FROM THE LATINS. Adapted from the Latin of Cardinal Bellarmin, Father Segneri, and other Sources. For every Sunday of the Ecclesiastical Year. With a Synopsis of each Sermon. 8vo . . . . . net, 2.00

No one could have better utilized the most approved processes of homiletic teaching, without borrowing the circumstance of antiquated expression, than the translator has done in this case. The matter is old, that is to say, such as has withstood for centuries the test of aggressive opinions of teachers whose work is the destruction of truth. But the manner is new, as of one who, appreciating the insidious methods of modern error, has carefully sharpened the rusty but finely pliable damascene, and exercised his arm in the use of it with a living foe.—The Ecclesiastical Review.

The book is a treatise of critical insight that should be of more than ephemeral value, both to those who are already familiar with the masterpieces of the Florentine and those who may be led by it to a closer study of them. — Chicago Daily Journal.

WHAT CATHOLICS HAVE DONE FOR SCIENCE. By Rev. Martin S. Brennan, A.M. 12mo 1.00

The purpose of this book is to refute two widespread notions. One is, that when a man devotes himself to science he must cease to be a Christian; and the other, that the Catholic Church is hostile to scientific progress. Nothing can be more unjust than the impression that the pursuit of science is prejudicial to a man's piety. A close intimacy with the grand designs of the Creator can only enhance our reverence for his divine beneficence. The heart of the true Catholic scientist is instinctively sending up a constant orison to the Great White Throne.

FALL, 1906

ALDEN. Knights of the Silver Shield.

By Raymond M. Alden. Profusely illustrated by Katharine Hayward Greenland. Quarto, cloth $1.25

Under this charming title are grouped stories for children—fairy stories, historical stories, nature stories—all put into simple, beautiful English and invested with delight. Each story shows, without preaching, something admirable in life: tenderness for suffering, charity for wrong-doing, kindness in place of spite, the uplift of a noble purpose. For the kindergarten the book is ideal. Mr. Alden is the son of "Pansy" and has inherited his mother's skill in reaching the child heart.

ALEXANDER. Judith.

By Grace Alexander. Illustrated by George Wright. 12mo, cloth $1.50

This is a sweet and lovely story of Southern Indiana in the candle-lit fifties. It is delicate with the delicacy of the finest phantasy and strong with the strength of sanity, beauty, aspiration and true love. As a picture of life in a vanished past and a statelier day it is sensitive, sincere and admirable.

Strangely mingled with their fortunes is a famous Court Jester, witty and impudent, but a true friend. Again Mrs. Baker proves how gay and entertaining the historical romance may be made for children.

Here are the complete life-stories of the great little people of the great Mother Goose. At last we learn why King Cole had such queer tastes for a monarch, how Humpty Dumpty happened to be on the wall and Jack Horner in the corner, why Bo-Peep's sheep got away from her, etc., etc. Mr. Parrish's illustrations are a delight to the eye and a spur to the fancy.

Of this delightful series the Albany Times-Union says: "There is positively no living writer of fairy tales who comes quite so near the children's hearts as L. Frank Baum. His books are down-to-date fairy stories, very different from those that pleased past generations; their illustrations are by talented and popular artists; many of the type pages are printed in two gay colors, and in every way they are designed to open wide the eyes of little people in astonishment and intense delight. They deserve limitless praise."

BEGBIE. The Fall of the Curtain.

By Harold Begbie. Frontispiece by C. Allan Gilbert. 12mo, cloth. Postage 12c, net, $1.25

The purpose of this brilliant and penetrating story of modern English life is to show that a human being, well brought-up, carefully trained in the outward observances of religion, with a keen intellectual perception of the difference between right and wrong, may still not have goodness, and that selfish ambition may easily become the dominating force in such a character. So the book may be called a purpose novel, but in reading it one no more thinks of applying so discredited an epithet to it than one would think of applying it to "Vanity Fair." The author possesses an admirable style, clear, unaffected, strong.

BLAKE. Hearts' Haven.

By Katharine Evans Blake. Illustrated by E. M. Ashe. 12mo, cloth $1.50

The author of this beautiful story maintains that the love of a man for a maid and the love of a parent for a child are the dominant motives of life, surviving the mutations of years, stronger than heredity, stronger than loyalty to a religious leader, never to be obliterated, even by fanaticism, and proving ultimately irresistible to the sane heart. The setting for the development of this poignant truth is the Rappite community of celibates at New Harmony in early Indiana. Seldom, indeed, have the conquering impulses of young love and the overriding instincts of parenthood been expressed with such searching tenderness and such intimate reality.

BONNER. Tomorrow's Tangle.

By Geraldine Bonner. Illustrated by Arthur I. Keller. 12mo, cloth $1.50

A tale of California in the gold days of '49 and after; a story of desert, mine and varicolored San Francisco, of bonanza kings and bonanza outcasts, of a fight for a fortune and a superb renunciation; a romance of adventure and enterprise; more than all this, a romance of the conscience and the heart.

The New York Press says: "Since Bret Harte there has been no story of the gold days that can compare with this." And the Nashville American comments: "The story is full of life, and its characters are as clearly cut as portraits in steel. It is an American story, too, and that is another claim to the reader's attention."

The Pioneer.

Illustrated by Harrison Fisher, the frontispiece in color. 12mo, cloth.....$1.50

Miss Bonner's second novel of life in the Far West has all the many good qualities of the first—the warm-hearted sympathy, the picturesqueness and the stirring action—with a new depth of feeling and sureness of touch. The atmosphere of time and place (California and Nevada in the bonanza silver days) is rendered splendidly. But atmosphere and style mean little to the reader compared with the engrossing, passionate story of Colonel Jim Parrish and how he paid the debt of love.

Rich Men's Children.

Illustrated by C. M. Relyea. 12mo, cloth $1.50

The final story in Miss Bonner's great trilogy of California romances reveals the steady march of her fine and confident talent. It is as dramatic as Tomorrow's Tangle. It is bathed in the same warm human emotion that throbbed in the pages of The Pioneer. But, strong and sweeping, large and sure, vivid and compelling, frank and unconventional, Rich Men's Children is better and greater than its predecessors. The plot, which deals with the conflicts of two generations and the bold passions of the Far West, takes hold instantly with a firm clutch, and the movement is steadily maintained throughout toward a vigorous climax.

The truth is that only a woman of great sensibility can write stories for children as they should be written—as, in fact, Miss Culbertson has written them. The book should be one of the most substantial successes of the season." And Uncle Remus should know if any one.

This is the very prettiest of stories for little girls. It has the charm of all Mrs. Gates' books,—the charm of easy reading, fun that children can comprehend, play that all children enjoy, and a constant appeal to the things that children naturally prefer. The story is woven around the strange experience of a little girl born at an army post on the frontier, with two chapters at the end about her life in Washington after her father has been transferred. The book is full of patriotic sentiment and devotion to the flag.

GOSS. The Redemption of David Corson.

By Charles Frederic Goss, 12mo, cloth.....$1.50

The scene of this powerful American novel is in Ohio, just before the War of Secession. It deals with the regeneration of a strong young man who wandered after false gods.

Rev. Newell Dwight Hillis, Pastor of Plymouth Church, Brooklyn, says: "'The Redemption of David Corson' strikes a strong, healthy, buoyant note. It conquers our admiration and our love."

The Loom of Life.

12mo, cloth.....$1.50

The story is of a young girl, taught to believe in the old Greek myths, who revenges a wrong done to her with life-long persecution. Finally, however, she comes to believe that retribution for wrong-doing belongs to God, and is forced to realize that on earth peace and happiness can be obtained only by forgiving one another's sins. The book shows the same love and sympathy for the many moods of nature that characterize "The Redemption of David Corson."

"Dr. Goss' splendid powers have been demonstrated afresh. His new book is strong enough, big enough, suggestive and informing enough, to make a reputation for any one."—The Living Church.

GREEN. The Filigree Ball.

By Anna Katharine Green. Illustrated by C. M. Relyea. 12mo, cloth $1.50

This is something more than a mere detective story; it is a thrilling romance—a romance of mystery and crime where a shrewd detective helps to solve the mystery. The plot is an intricate one, carefully worked out. There are constant accessions to the main problem, so that the reader can not possibly imagine the conclusion. Unlike many mystery stories, "The Filigree Ball" is not disappointing at the end.

The Millionaire Baby.

Illustrated by A. I. Keller. 12mo, cloth.....$1.50

A detective story with a new tangle. A baby, heiress to an immense fortune, is kidnapped and disappears from the face of the earth. The offer of a large reward attracts a detective, who passes through a series of weird experiences in his endeavor to restore the baby to her parents. Undoubtedly this is one of the most original among modern romances that explore the hidden ways of the heart. "It is intense, fascinating, mystifying and plausible," says The Chicago News. "The unique position of the author in the field of mystery fiction is finally established."

The pictures are as vivid as a dream, the whole tale has a breathless speed, and all ends well.

The House in the Mist.

One of The Pocket Books. Including also "The Ruby and the Caldron." Narrow 12mo, cloth.....$0.75

Mrs. Green considers "The House in the Mist" her finest prose work. Everyone will echo her judgment, who follows the lonely traveler to the lonely house in the mist and passes with him through the strange adventure. "The Ruby and the Caldron" is a detective story of a peculiarly pleasing type, depending for its intense interest not on the morbid fascination of crime but on ingenuity, penetration and the novel turn of the happy outcome.

The Woman in the Alcove.

Illustrated by Arthur I. Keller. 12mo, cloth $1.50

The mystery story as developed by Anna Katharine Green reaches its highest point so far in "The Woman in the Alcove." The mysterious death of a woman whose personality is in itself mysterious involves a series of complications in which all clews lead to one end; all suspicion points to one man who seems inextricably caught in the meshes of a deadly web of circumstance. The startling incidents, the intricate ways and byways through which the reader travels, and the spirited love story unite to make this perhaps the most effective of its author's books.

IRVING. The Legend of Sleepy Hollow.

By Washington Irving. With over seventy illustrations, many in four colors, by Arthur I. Keller. 8vo, cloth, boxed.....$2.00

This famous love story of the Hudson, rendered a classic of all time by the matchless fancy and abounding humor of Irving, is here for the first time given a worthy setting. Mr. Keller has enriched it with the full measure of that art, at once graceful and highly dramatic, which has placed him in the foremost rank of American illustrators. He has caught the spirit of the master-humorist to a wonderful degree. From the grotesque figure of Ichabod Crane to the charm, piquancy and beauty of that darling maid, Katrina Van Tassel, his brush ranges with equal skill.

ISHAM. The Strollers.

By Frederic S. Isham. Illustrated by Harrison Fisher. 12mo, cloth.....$1.50

The scenes are laid in that picturesque and interesting period of American life—the last of the stage coach days—the days of the strolling players. This is the record of a troupe making a circuit in the wilderness from New York to New Orleans, carrying one wagon-load of scenery and playing in town halls, taverns and barns. The characters are gifted, witty, lovable people who at once enlist the sympathy of the reader.

Under the Rose.

With illustrations in six colors by Howard Chandler Christy. 12mo, cloth.....$1.50

In giving the quaint title to this book Mr. Isham says to the reader: "Now this is just between you and me. I am going to tell you a secret, and I want you to keep it to yourself." Then he leads you through a delightfully confusing network of paths and passages and introduces you to some very interesting people, while he serves his rare morsel of romance. All these people know that there is a secret, but they do not know that you know it, and so their innocent effort to straighten out the entanglements proves highly diverting. "Delicious fooling, lively wit, fine feeling, perfect taste are the qualities that make the charm of 'Under the Rose.' The atmosphere is so fraught with magic and fantasy that we forget it has no reality, and succumb to the author's spell."—Harper's Weekly.

ISHAM.—Continued.—Black Friday.

Illustrated by Harrison Fisher. 12mo, cloth.....$1.50

A dramatic novel of New York in the days of the famous "corner in gold," when Jay Gould, the noted financier and daring speculator, had the market almost in his grasp. The scene shifts at the end to Paris in the exciting time of the Commune. Mr. Isham's work shows a steady advance in power, in imaginative grasp, in the realization of atmosphere and in constructive skill. In every case his latest book is his best.

JONES. Letters of Labor and Love.

By Samuel M. Jones. With portrait and an introduction by Brand Whitlock. 12mo, cloth.....net, $1.00

The famous "Golden Rule" Mayor of Toledo wrote these letters to the men who worked in his machine shop. They are little masterpieces of helpful comment on the relation between employer and employed,—the words of a great, honest American who was desperately in earnest,—and they have the simplicity and directness which our men of action, when they have done the real heavy labor of the world, always get into their writings. The views of this remarkable man on our civilization are intensely interesting and highly important.

JULIAN. The Life of Joshua R. Giddings.

By George W. Julian. 8vo, cloth, 473 pages, gilt top.....$2.50

The only complete biography of the great Ohio Congressman and orator who rendered the anti-slavery movement effective by making it a political issue. The book is more than a record of the life of one man; it is an important contribution to the history of this country during the thirty years preceding the Civil War, given impartially and discriminatingly by the son-in-law of the man who is its central figure.

KELLY. With Hoops of Steel.

By Florence Finch Kelly. Illustrated in colors by Dan Smith. 12mo, cloth.....$1.50

Says the Denver Times: "It is not alone in the superb local coloring or the vivid character work that 'With Hoops of Steel' is a notable book. The incidents are admirably described and full of interest, and the movement of the story is continuous and vigorous."

KENTON. What Manner of Man.

By Edna Kenton. 12mo, cloth, gilt top.....$1.50

The story of an English artist, who, after a long search for a model for his picture of the death of a Christian martyr in the arena, finds her in Clodah of Rohan, a girl who has lived an unworldly life on a lonely Scottish island. He marries her to make her his model, and the conflict of his passionate devotion to his art with her devoted love for her husband is the great and unusual theme of the story.

"The book is full of dramatic force. The author is an unusual thinker and observer, and has a rare gift for creative literature."—Philadelphia Evening Telegraph.

A story of life fifty years ago, with a pretty love motive, and an exciting social battle, in which the simple sweetness of a charming girl gets the better of the cunning devices of a married woman.

LONG. Seffy.

By John Luther Long, author of "Madame Butterfly," etc. Illustrated by C. D. Williams, and decorated by Earl Stetson Crawford. Ornamental cover, 12mo, cloth.....$1.50

A draught of pure delight is this little comedy of country manners. It is like a summer day,—all sunshine and showers and rainbows,—smiles and tears and smiles again breaking through the tears. It is an idyl of the Pennsylvania Dutch, with two love motives, the love of a man for a maid and the love between father and son. Both are prettily managed, in the first half of the book, with charming humor,—in the second part, with seriousness, tenderness, dignity. At once a work of literature and a picture of life, it excites the admiration and touches the heart.

Special De Luxe Edition, bound in full crushed Levant Persian leather, in a box... 6.00

The new Christy-Longfellow book is a surpassing achievement in beauty. Mr. Christy has more than risen to the occasion and given to Longfellow's masterpiece—the most familiar and the best beloved of all American love poems—a new richness and a new loveliness. It is the ideal gift-book, and this is shown by the fact that whoever buys it, selfishly hates to give it away.

LONGFELLOW.—Continued.—Hiawatha.

With more than fifty illustrations, many in full color, by Harrison Fisher. Decorations by Earl Stetson Crawford. Uniform with the Courtship of Miles Standish and Evangeline. Large octavo, cloth, in a box $3.00

No pains have been spared to make the Fisher edition of Hiawatha a most beautiful gift book. By fortunate chance it comes at the very climax of the Indian's popularity as a romantic figure. Mr. Fisher's Minnehaha is, of course, the loveliest Indian maiden ever conceived. That was to be expected. The glamour with which he surrounds Longfellow's famous hero is a revelation. All of the pictures are magnificently reproduced.

LYNDE. The Master of Appleby.

By Francis Lynde. Fully illustrated by T. de Thulstrup. 12mo, cloth $1.50

"A novel tale concerning itself in part with the great struggle in the two Carolinas, but chiefly with the adventures therein of two gentlemen who loved one and the same lady," is the description of the sub-title. The story deals with that part of the Revolutionary struggle in which the Catawba and Cherokee Indians were involved.

"There is a continuous succession of thrilling situations," says the New York Sun. "A strong, masculine and persuasive story," is the comment of the Boston Transcript.

The Grafters.

Illustrated by Arthur I. Keller, 12mo, cloth $1.50

A virile and vigorous novel of the West. Whatever your mood, "The Grafters" will chime in with it. If pessimistic you will swear that the brutal ugliness of official corruption here pictured has its undoubted counterpart in some of our states. If optimistic you will be pleased by the ultimate triumph of justice. If bored by the politics, and insensible to the winning charm of the love-story, you will feel the wind in your hair when you find yourself in the cab of a flying locomotive, dashing past danger signals with the sound of bullets in ears that are intensely expectant of an exploding boiler. "One of the best examples of a new and distinctly American class of fiction—the kind which finds romance and even sensational excitement in business, politics, finance and law."—The Outlook.

A Fool for Love.

One of The Pocket Books. Frontispiece by George Brehm. Narrow 12mo, cloth .. $0.75

Everybody who reads fiction read "The Grafters," and knows that nobody can tell a tale of railroad life like Francis Lynde. In his new novelette he has combined a thrilling right-of-way war between two Colorado railroads and a love story of peculiar charm and power. The plot moves with the rapidity of those drumming wheels that resound through the pages.

The Quickening.

Illustrated by E. M. Ashe. 12mo, cloth $1.50

An impressive novel and strong in its impressiveness, carefully wrought, intensely dramatic, first engaging the reader's attention and then compelling it. No nobler theme can be imagined, for it is the story of a man in the making. Out of the long, long thoughts of youth Tom Gordon emerges to meet the tests of religion, business and love. Aided only by his own great courage and his own great love, he fights through to faith and success and love returned. A big-hearted tale is "The Quickening," of a man who dealt with life at first hand.

MACAULEY. Fantasma Land.

By Charles Raymond Macauley. With fifty-one illustrations by the author. 12mo, cloth $1.25

A juvenile for children of all ages, in which a small boy finds himself in the land of Upside-down where the branches of the trees lie on the ground and their roots rise high in the air, where the heads of the people move about independently of their bodies—a land where contradictions abound and nothing common happens. Dickey, the small boy, has many adventures in meeting the Fantasms, among whom are Little Nell and her grandfather, Don Quixote, the Jester, "who was once kidnapped from Fantasma Land and made to work for Sir Walter Scott," and many others.

MACGRATH. The Puppet Crown.

By Harold MacGrath. Illustrated by R. Martine Reay. 12mo, cloth $1.50

The rose light of romance is here thrown over nineteenth century happenings. The scene is laid among the picturesque unrealities of a little Austrian border kingdom. The conversations are witty and charming, and the movement is brisk and crisp. "Harold MacGrath has attained the highest point achievable in recent fiction," says the Philadelphia North American; "We have the climax of romance and adventure in 'The Puppet Crown.'"

The Grey Cloak.

Illustrated by Thomas Mitchell Peirce. 12mo, cloth $1.50

There is something refreshingly Dumasesque in the opening chapter, where an aged nobleman is run through in his own house by the sword of a masked stranger who leaves behind him no clew but a torn grey cloak; and from there on the interest never flags.

"There have been many excellent stories of love and intrigue, but no one of them all equals this in depth of fascination and subtile plot and counterplot."—New York American.

The Man on the Box.

Illustrated by Harrison Fisher. 12mo, cloth $1.50

A gay romance of Washington to-day, carried off with admirable dash and spirit, and with just enough tragedy to give point to the comic touch. The hero masquerades as a coachman, takes service in his lady's livery, becomes involved in a diplomatic intrigue, and altogether has the liveliest kind of a time. The Albany Times-Union calls it "the most sparkling book of the season" and says that it "tells a most absorbing story in the wittiest, most delightful way."

Enchantment.

One of The Pocket Books. Narrow 12mo, cloth $0.75

Included in this volume are: "A Night's Enchantment," "The Blind Madonna," "No Cinderella," "The Enchanted Hat," and "Two Candidates." They are all masterpieces in miniature by a born story-teller. Piquant, original, quaint in relation, fantastic in conception, unexpected in outcome, they make a book of famous relish, the American Nights' Entertainment.

The Princess Elopes.

One of The Pocket Books. Narrow 12mo, cloth $0.75

Indescribably full of youth and high spirits is this royal extravaganza, this glad dance of merriment, love, wit and adventure. The author is at his best in following the caprices of the madcap Princess, which culminate in an elopement of unique design. He has a mighty good time winking at us from behind the curtain, and we have a mighty good time watching the comedy and winking back.

Hearts and Masks.

With twelve full-page illustrations in photogravure by Harrison Fisher. Decorated by Ralph Fletcher Seymour. Ornamental cover, 12mo, cloth $1.50

Mr. MacGrath was in his gayest mood when he wrote this most exhilarating story, full of the zest of life. At every page the adventure turns an unexpected corner. The elements are fascinating: a hunt-club masquerade, three mysterious dominoes, each holding as a card of invitation the ten of hearts; the theft of a gorgeous necklace; a love affair begun and consummated within eight hours. Mr. Fisher's pretty girls and manly men make a fitting accompaniment to the merry tale of carnival entanglements.

MARDEN. Choosing a Career.

By Orison Swett Marden, author of "Rising in the World," etc. 12mo, cloth, net $1.00

A comprehensive scope, a logical arrangement, a wealth of illustrations, trenchant sayings, admirable comment and a taking manner, are virtues of this book by the founder and editor of "Success." Part First deals with the theoretical aspects of the topic,—the duty of parents; the effect of surroundings, habit, physical fitness, nervous temperament, disposition, manner; the necessity of health, of definite purpose, of courage, energy and enthusiasm. Part Second contains a mass of valuable facts and opinions. The chief occupations are treated separately, and everywhere the author has called upon expert opinion to reinforce his own. Bankers, lawyers, railroad presidents, manufacturers, editors, printers, stenographers, artists, nurses, physicians—each a person of distinction in his own line—give the results of their experience. An invaluable guide to the boy or man, girl or woman, seeking direction on an all-important question.

MARVEL. See Mitchell.

MATHEWS. My Lady Peggy Goes to Town.

By Frances Aymar Mathews. Illustrated by Harrison Fisher. With decorations by Virginia Keep. 12mo, cloth.....$1.25

A sparkling comedy of the days of George III. A heroine almost too charming to be true is Peggy, and it is a churlish reader who is not, at the end of the first chapter, prostrate before her red slippers. "To make a comparison would be to rank 'My Lady Peggy' with 'Monsieur Beaucaire' in points of attraction, and to applaud as heartily as that delicate romance, this picture of the days 'when patches nestled o'er sweet lips at chocolate times.'"—New York Mail and Express.

The first printed version of the famous play, produced with such great success by E. H. Sothern and Virginia Harned, and now accepted among the classic comedies of the American stage. It makes delightful reading, for the lines are capitally clever. The volume is put up in gift-book form.

MERTINS. The Storm Signal.

By Gustave Frederick Mertins. Illustrated by Arthur I. Keller. 12mo, cloth $1.50

This exciting novel deals boldly, bravely, frankly with the negro problem. The author has his solution of the question—a novel solution which he presents concretely in a plot crowded with thrilling action and uncompromising realism. There is great strength in the story, great reserve, great range, and the force that comes from a straight hit from the shoulder. There is nothing to compare with it in literature for its comprehension and exhibition of the negro character, or for its sympathetic revelation of the Southerner at his best. The romance stands out with dramatic vividness like a tree against a flaming sunset. It is a moving tale, one to read with drawn breath and quickening pulses and a swelling heart.

MICHELSON. In the Bishop's Carriage.

By Miriam Michelson. Illustrated by Harrison Fisher. 12mo, cloth $1.50

From the moment when, in another girl's chinchilla coat, she jumps into the unknown carriage, and, snuggling up to the solemn owner, calls him "Daddy"—from that moment until she makes her final bow, a happy wife and a triumphant actress, Nance Olden, the heroine of "In the Bishop's Carriage," holds your fancy captive and your heart in thrall. "The very best work of fiction that has come to us this season," says Professor Harry Thurston Peck, in the New York American.

MILLER. The Yoke.

By Elizabeth Miller. Ornamental cloth, 12mo $1.50

This great biblical novel is described by its sub-title as "A romance of the days when the Lord redeemed the children of Israel from the bondage of Egypt." Six hundred of the leading clergymen of the country have praised it as the finest achievement in religious fiction since "Ben-Hur." In the opinion of Rev. F. W. Gunsaulus, President of the Armour Institute of Technology, it "will take its place among our most important historical novels." Rev. J. Wilbur Chapman says: "I really have never read a greater novel; it is superb."

Saul of Tarsus.

A tale of the Early Christians. Illustrated by André Castaigne. 12mo, cloth, ornamental cover $1.50

The same splendid imagination which reconstructed the Age of the Pharaohs and revivified the glory of Egypt in The Yoke here plays with lambent flame about the great Roman world in the years immediately succeeding the Crucifixion. The scenes are laid in Jerusalem, Alexandria, Rome and Damascus. The Apostle Paul, the Martyr Stephen, Herod Agrippa and the Emperors Tiberius and Caligula are among the mighty figures that move through the pages. Wonderful descriptions, heart-stirring incidents, deep emotion, high thought and a love story of the purest and noblest type mark this most remarkable religious romance.

By Donald G. Mitchell (Ik Marvel). Illustrated by E. M. Ashe with sixteen full-page pictures in color, chapter headings, tail-pieces and page decorations. Tall 12mo, cloth, boxed $1.50

Fifty years ago Donald G. Mitchell wove the joy and pathos of love into airy fancies and delicious dreams. His words keep them and will ever keep them beautifully alive in letters. Now at last Mr. Ashe, the brilliant American illustrator, has given the tender reveries a form in pictures as fair and graceful as their form in words. He has made a jewel casket of a book.

MORTON. The Southern Empire, with Other Papers.

By Oliver T. Morton. Small 12mo, cloth $1.25

The title essay discusses economic, social and political conditions in the old South, and forecasts what the future would have been if the Confederacy had been successful. The other papers treat of "Oxford" and "Some Popular Objections to Civil Service Reform."

By Wilbur D. Nesbit. With five full-page illustrations by Will Vawter. 12mo, cloth, ... Postage 10c, net, $1.00

By Catherine McLaen (Mrs. Harry S. New). 16mo, Buckram, uncut, gilt top, deckle-edge paper $1.25

This volume contains two stories, "A Woman Reigns" and "The Fate of a Fatalist," the former a strikingly unique story of a platonic love that wasn't; the latter an interesting story in fatalism, with an unexpected turn at the end.

NICHOLAS. An Idyl of the Wabash.

By Anna Nicholas. 12mo, cloth, gilt top $1.25

A volume of Indiana stories filled with simple peace and leisured calm, and rendered with a deftness of touch that tells a volume in a sentence. The work is lighted up by a quick appreciation of whimsicalities and a humorous sensing of serious moments.

NICHOLSON. The Main Chance.

By Meredith Nicholson. Illustrated by Harrison Fisher. 12mo, cloth $1.50

A vigorous, buoyant, cheering story, delightfully written, with straightforward, honest pictures of the life of to-day in a wide-awake city of the Middle West. The interest centers in the fight to secure control of a traction company.

"We commend it for its workmanship—for its smoothness and its sensible and pleasant fancies, and for its general charm."—N. Y. Sun.

Zelda Dameron.

With portraits of the characters by John Cecil Clay. 12mo, cloth $1.50

In his new story Mr. Nicholson again holds the mirror up to human nature as found in the Middle West, and the reflection flashed back upon the reader is startlingly and attractively true. His heroine is a young girl full of life to her finger-tips,—a mixture of pride, wilfulness, courage and sweetness. She discovers that her father is a rascal,—and there is the point of departure of the book.

The House of a Thousand Candles.

Illustrated by Howard Chandler Christy. 12mo, cloth $1.50

A novel of romance and adventure flavored with mystery and alive with delightful surprises. Every reader with red blood in his veins forgets all the cares and demands of life in his overpowering eagerness to learn the solution, and when he learns it, the shock is so great that it takes him some time to recover his breath. The scene is laid by an Indiana lake, but the atmosphere is strangely of the Old World. The plot (which gallops all the way) involves astonishing wills, buried treasure, underground passage-ways, much fighting, much love-making, and the unexpected denouement already alluded to. Virile, direct, clear, rapid, fresh are the right adjectives for the book.

NICHOLSON.—Continued.—Poems.

12mo, cloth.....Postage 12c, net, $1.25

The fine and stirring poems which make up this volume constitute one of the most important contributions to recent American verse. Some of them have appeared previously in leading magazines. Others appear here for the first time. All possess in high degree the qualities of delicacy, discrimination, distinction, charm and clarity of form, sincerity of feeling and individuality of thought. They move the heart like a bugle-call.

NUMBER 1500. Life in Sing Sing.

By "Number 1500," founder and first editor of The Star of Hope, the periodical published by the prisoners confined in Sing Sing. 12mo, cloth.....$1.50

This is a remarkable book. It is a graphic, personal narrative of the experiences of a keen observer during his term of imprisonment. It tells how the prisoners live, what they do, what they think, how they talk—and they have a curious language of their own, of which the author gives a complete dictionary,—in short just what it means to a man to spend part of his life in the most famous prison in the world.

NYE, BILL. A Guest at the Ludlow, and Other Stories.

By Edgar Wilson Nye (Bill Nye), with twenty-one full-page pictures by Morris Braunhold, and twelve designs by the author. 12mo, cloth.....$1.25

OSBOURNE. The Motormaniacs.

By Lloyd Osbourne. One of The Pocket Books. Narrow 12mo, cloth.....$0.75

Besides the title story this volume contains "The Great Bubble Syndicate," "Coal-Oil Johnny," and "Jones." One great historic character, by whisking through the pages, lends them unity—the Automobile! What with motor-car interest, love interest, and the perennial interest of humor, they bind the reader with a three-fold chain.

PARRY. The Scarlet Empire.

By David M. Parry. Illustrated in color by Hermann C. Wall. 12mo, cloth.....$1.50

A romantic counterblast to "Looking Backward." A young socialist, by strange chance, finds himself on the lost island of Atlantis under the sea. Here a thoroughgoing social democracy is in active operation. He passes through many exciting adventures, has an enthralling love affair, and learns by the way how destructive to all the interests of life, how ruinous to the State are the principles of socialism when carried to their logical conclusion.

PHILLIPS. The Cost.

By David Graham Phillips. With sixteen illustrations by Harrison Fisher. 12mo, cloth.....$1.50

John Dumont, sick and almost ruined, plots revenge, and, with the remnant of his fortune and his great financial skill, turns like a wolf on his foes. Sitting in his room alone with a telephone and ticker at his elbow, he literally wipes them off the face of the earth, only to be found by his doctor at the end of the day on the floor entangled in the tape of the ticker. For him the cost was death, but for Pauline Gardiner and Hampden Scarborough the cost was happiness doubly deepened and love trebly enriched. How? Well, that's the story.

"A masterly book, interesting to the point of fascination, analytic to the point of keenness, thoroughly well written with complete understanding, and entirely committed to advocacy of the best things in life."—Chicago Examiner.

The Plum Tree.

Illustrated by E. M. Ashe. 12mo, cloth.....$1.50

Here is a novel that centers in itself the whole movement of the day and age, a movement that must inevitably sweep the nation with the mightiness of its growing strength. Day by day the common people are becoming more and more aware of the corruption in the great game of politics. The Plum Tree will do more than anything else to hasten the realization. It is immeasurably better than any other novel ever written on national politics.

PHILLIPS.—Continued.—The Social Secretary.

With twelve full-page illustrations in photogravure by Clarence F. Underwood. Decorations by Ralph Fletcher Seymour. 12mo, cloth, in a box $1.50

An absorbing novel of Washington society and how a clever girl "made" the social success of a new Senator's wife. There is a tempestuous love story, and character work of great and delightful excellence. Mrs. Burke, with her naïve speeches, shrewd sense, downright sincerity and unvarnished comments on Washington society, wins affection and provides amusement. Grace and passion and satire flow from the facile pen of Mr. Phillips.

The Deluge.

Illustrated by George Gibbs. 12mo, cloth $1.50

A story of high and frenzied finance,—the fictional autobiography of a man whose career is evidently patterned upon the famous Mr. Lawson of Boston. Enormous interests are at stake in the plot. Millions are involved. The onslaught of the great Blacklock upon the kings of commerce leads to "Wild Week" on Wall Street,—one of the most thrilling incidents in modern romance. The story takes on a gigantic, a monumental interest and impressiveness. But in the clash of the great business conflict, the love element is not for a moment forgotten. It is the refreshing and glorifying touch in a novel of magnificent proportions and persistent absorption.

The Fortune Hunter.

Illustrated by E. M. Ashe. 12mo, cloth $1.25

A charming story of a belle of the East Side in New York and her two lovers, all done so gracefully and unpretentiously, with so rich a humor and so keen a sympathy that it proves simply captivating. Mr. Phillips is at his best in this book.

POWERS. My Own Story.

By Caleb Powers. With many illustrations from photographs. 12mo, cloth $1.50

The author of this remarkable book is the most pathetic figure in the political and criminal history of our times. Arrested in 1900 charged with the murder of Governor Goebel, of Kentucky, tried, retried, and tried again, convicted, sentenced to be hanged, and now in the Louisville jail awaiting his fourth trial, he here for the first time tells the story of his career. He tells it, too, with absolute candor and graphic detail. Outraged justice finds voice in these pages of personal vindication.

QUICK. Double Trouble.

By Herbert Quick. With sixteen illustrations by Orson Lowell. 12mo, cloth $1.50

The first comedy novel based on dual personality. In one "state of soul" the hero is a quiet, retired business man, a lover of books, proud of a Puritan conscience. In the other he is a breezy promoter of the Middle West, loud, sporty, rakish. When the two careers cross paths there follows a series of mirth-provoking situations in farcical confusion.

"A weird conception—uproariously funny," comments the Chicago Evening Post. "Alert with the hustle and verve of the life that is not simple, but rather—exhilarating," says the Pittsburg Post.

The scene of Miss Rives' glowing romance is laid in the colony of Virginia during those momentous days of determination for independence and the formation of the new republic. No more attractive period can be chosen for the setting of a story; for to every American the names of Westover, Berkeley and Gunston Hall are bathed in perpetual romance. The heroine is a young American girl; the hero is a French marquis; and among the chief characters is Patrick Henry.

The Castaway.

Illustrated in color by Howard Chandler Christy. 12mo, cloth....Postage 12c, net $1.00

The Castaway takes its title from a saying of Lord Byron's: "Three great men ruined in one year—a king, a cad, and a castaway." The king was Napoleon; the cad was Beau Brummell; and the castaway—crowned with genius, illumined with fame, and shadowed in infamy—Lord Byron himself. "My life," said Byron in another place, "will furnish material for a pretty little romance, which shall be denominated the loves of Lord B." His jesting prophecy has been more than fulfilled by Miss Rives. Poet, lover, fighter, what a figure of a man, and what a hero of romance!

"Dramatic scenes, thrilling incidents, strenuous events follow one another; pathos, revenge and passion; happy scenes; moments of peace and pure happiness; a strong love; and through all these, under all these, is the poet, the man, George Gordon."—Grand Rapids Herald.

SEAWELL. Francezka.

By Molly Elliot Seawell. Illustrated by Harrison Fisher. 12mo, cloth.....$1.50

There is no character in fiction more lovable and appealing than is Francezka. Miss Seawell has told a story of youth, splendor and tragedy with an art which links it with summer dreams, which drowns the somber in the picturesque, which makes pain and vice a stage wonder. "The period is the first half of that most fascinating, picturesque and epoch-making century, the eighteenth. The story has light and shadow and high spirits, tempered with the gay, mocking, debonair philosophy of the time."—Brooklyn Times.

Children of Destiny.

Illustrated by A. B. Wenzell. 12mo, cloth.....$1.50

A novel of old Virginia. In reading it one lives again in the patrician elegance of those mannerly times with all their freedom and all their limitations. In the midst of those quiet people—some rich in worldly goods, all rich in birth and station—is born a man with the unrest of genius. Miss Seawell's delineation of this man's character and her sprightly humor, playing on the foibles of the early nineteenth century aristocrats, show her as a brilliant writer and a deep thinker.

With twelve pictures in color by Clarence F. Underwood. Ornamental cover with inlay picture by Underwood. 12mo, cloth, in a box..... $1.50

Lady Arabella Stormont was a great heiress in the days of George III, and as beautiful as rich, and as capricious as either. Many men loved her and one she loved. The strange thing that she did for that one makes the climax of this most sprightly romance. The whole tale is bright with wit and the flashing of blades, and as full of alluring variety as Arabella's own lovely countenance. Mr. Underwood has made the appearance of the volume inside and out befittingly beautiful.

SOUSA. The Fifth String.

By John Philip Sousa. Illustrated by Howard Chandler Christy. 12mo, cloth, gilt top.....$1.25

This story of a marvelous violin, of a wonderful love, and of a strange temptation, shows the author's artistically sensitive temperament and his great dramatic power. Mr. Sousa has remained faithful to his art; and the great public that has learned to love him for the marches he has made seems as delighted with his pen as with his baton.

Pipetown Sandy.

With many illustrations by C. L. Hinton. 12mo, cloth.....$1.50

The march king who marched his way into popular fiction with his delightful romance, "The Fifth String," again shows that his skill with the pen is equal to his skill with the baton. "Pipetown Sandy" is a tale of Mr. Sousa's own city of Washington in the sixties,—a tale combining adventure, humor, the tenderness of boyhood and the interest of a novel plot. Sandy himself is unlike anybody you have ever met before, but for all that he is the realest of the real.

A great newspaper correspondent, one of the greatest of our time, a man of "an admirable brain, a brain of the first magnitude," has here recorded a wide range of observations and comments. He followed wars in many lands, read many books with fresh vision, saw and saw through many men. "What Happened in Thessaly," "The Dreyfus Case," "The Jubilee," "Zola," "The Derby," "The New Tennyson" are among the diverse themes here treated with great vigor and vividness.

STEPHENSON. Patroon Van Vo'kenberg.

By Henry Thew Stephenson. Illustrated in color by C. M. Relyea. 12mo, cloth...$1.50

The action of the story begins when New York was a little city of less than five thousand inhabitants. The conflict between the law-abiding citizens, led by the Governor, Earl Bellamont, and the merchants, headed by Patroon Van Volkenberg, is at its height. The atmosphere of the tale is fresh in fiction, the plot is stirring and well knit, and the author is possessed of the ability to write forceful, fragrant English.

The Fickle Wheel.

Illustrated by C. M. Relyea. 12mo, cloth.....$1.50

In this tale of merry England in the time when Shakespeare jested and Ben Jonson blustered, Mr. Stephenson has painted for us a picture informing and above all entertaining. We go to Paul's Walk, we see Shakespeare play at the Globe theater, and other such glimpses of old-time London are deftly added to our experiences. Throughout the book is an evanescent charm, a spirit of wholesome gaiety. It is well worth while.

STRANG. In Clive's Command.

A Story of the Fight for India, by Herbert Strang. With many spirited illustrations. Large 12mo, cloth.....$1.50

Mr. Strang is everywhere regarded as having succeeded to the late G. A. Henty's position of the writer of books dearest to the heart of a boy. He has in fact accomplished more than Mr. Henty, for, while his vigorous tales are based on historical fact, the historical fact is never allowed to encumber the narrative. With Mr. Strang the story's the thing. In this book he tells the daring and ingenious exploits of Desmond Burke, a sixteen-year-old boy who follows Clive to victory in India and is enabled to do him extraordinary service. Breathlessly exciting from cover to cover is In Clive's Command.

Samba.

A Story of the Rubber Slaves of the Congo. Fully illustrated. Large 12mo, cloth..$1.50

An American boy of British parentage finds himself stranded in the remotest wilds of the Congo Free State. There he comes into contact with the Belgian authorities, who, in their relentless hunt for rubber, are oppressing the natives with savage tyranny. How the hero champions the victims and finally discomfits the officials against whom he is pitted is told with vividness and power. The author's capacity of describing this interesting region of the world is admitted to be unsurpassed. The serious purpose of the story is lightened by many pleasant touches of humor.

STRATTON-PORTER. The Song of the Cardinal.

By Gene Stratton-Porter. New edition. Beautifully illustrated in colors with camera studies from life. 12mo, cloth.....$1.50

An exquisite romance in prose of the cardinal's wooing and honeymoon, by one who knows and loves birds and can picture most winningly the throb and sparkle of their blithe, free life. Mechanically the volume is a notably fine specimen of the bookmaker's art; the printing is very clear on rich, heavy paper, and the illustrations are a delightful series of remarkable photographs, showing the heart of the woods and the wood life to perfection. The coloring is the most beautiful and accurate ever seen in bird pictures.

"It is an exquisite prose poem. The joy of out-doors permeates the story."—Boston Herald.

SWEETSER. One Way Round the World.

A children's book which tells a real story—the adventures of Buddie in the woodland. Buddie is a little girl who fastens a spray of Enchanter's Nightshade in her hair and thus learns to know the birds and beasts of field and forest in a most surprising manner. Under the guidance of her good dog Colonel, she meets the Laziest Beaver, Bunny Cotton-Tayle, the Guinea-Pig whose eyes fall out, the Singing Donkey, the Half-Sleepy Bear, the Golf Lynx, and many others. At the Well where Truth lies at the bottom, all meet to find out why a rabbit wabbles his nose. The book contains clever verses and pretty songs of the kind children love.

The Charlatans.

With frontispiece in color, many full-page illustrations and pictures in the text by George Brehm $1.50

Hope Winston, the most charming young person in the world, goes up to the metropolis to get a musical education. She gets it with a vengeance at The Colossus, a huge conservatory run on strictly modern principles. The revelation of methods of musical quacks amounts to an exposé, but it amounts also to a tremendous quantity of fun. Mr. Taylor bubbles over with his merry spirit. His heroine learns much more than music,—friendship, struggle and happy love,—and the reader closes the pleasant pages happy in her happiness.

TERHUNE. See Marion Harland.

THANET. The Man of the Hour.

By Octave Thanet (Alice French). Illustrated by Lucius W. Hitchcock. 12mo, cloth $1.50

This, the first long novel by a famous writer of short stories, combines more American qualities than any book of many years. It is saturated with Americanism. It has American humor, American optimism, American vigor, and above all the American ideal of love and labor. It is a concentration of American problems, especially as they are found in the Middle West. But it is no "problem novel". It is story, first, last, and all the time—a tale that's worth the telling for its own sake and that tells itself straight through.

THOMPSON. Alice of Old Vincennes.

By Maurice Thompson. With illustrations by F. C. Yohn and Howard Chandler Christy. 12mo, cloth.....$1.50

The book is compact of stirring incidents, fine characters that are real men and women, vivid scenes, all given to the reader through the medium of a sensitive literary style.

"There are three great chapters of fiction: Scott's tournament on Ashby Field, General Wallace's chariot race, and Maurice Thompson's duel scene and the raising of Alice's flag over old Fort Vincennes."—Denver Daily News.

At the close of his long and brilliant career Colonel Thompson gives to the world a book that is notable both for its historical interest and for its literary style

ULLMAN. Edges.

By Alice Woods Ullman. With illustrations by the author. New edition. 12mo, cloth, uniform with "A Gingham Rose".....$1.50

A clever and unusually striking story of artists and artist life, with a delicate romance. The hero, a painter-hermit, discovers the heroine asleep by the sea. A story of artist life in New York, with a vivid shifting of the scene to the Arizona desert. The principal characters are three young art students—two men and one girl—with the usual complication and an unusual solution. Anne, the "gingham rose," is a philosopher and a humorist, as well as a brave, devoted young woman, who, as some one assured her, "could go through hell and come back clean-hearted."

"A remarkable book, sustained in power and interest, strong in its characterization and picturesque in its treatment of life."—Harper's Weekly.

VALENTINE. The Ship of Silence, and Other Poems.

By Edward Uffington Valentine. 12mo, cloth..... ....Postage 14c, net, $1.20

"This is Mr. Valentine's first book. It makes its appearance with the distinction of unobtrusiveness. There is a certain triumph for literature in the fact that a man should find, as the chief concern of his art, the beauty of the world in which we must all live, and the beauty of the human spirit which we should all share. To succeed on these heights is success indeed."—James Lane Allen, in The Outlook.

Hecla Sandwith.

12mo, cloth.....$1.50

An old-fashioned love story of the kind we all love, and something more than a love story, an excellent study of character and a thoroughly charming and faithful picture of life in the fifties in a Pennsylvania town. It was to be expected that Mr. Valentine's novel should prove a work of art, finished in detail and beautiful in color; but "Hecla Sandwith" adds to the graceful touch of the poet the strength of the realist and the imagination of the romancer.

VAWTER. The Rabbit's Ransom, and Other Stories.

By Clara Vawter. Illustrated and decorated by Will Vawter. 12mo, cloth.....$1.25

This is a book of fascinating stories and verses, not only of children, but for children —a rare achievement. The stories are characterized by just the fanciful qualities which make children come back to them again and again, and the verses are jolly bits of humor. Miss Vawter's brother, the artist, who shares all her fairy fancies and all her intimate knowledge of childhood, has made a series of pictures that deliciously supplement those from her pen.

VOORHEES. Forty Years of Oratory.

By Daniel W. Voorhees. With fifty full-page illustrations. Two large volumes, handsomely bound in sheep.....Expressage 45c, net, $6.00

These volumes embrace an exceptionally broad scope—lectures; forensic addresses selected from those delivered during the many celebrated causes with which the author was identified in the courts of sixteen different states of the Union; and political and economic speeches delivered during thirty years' service in the Senate and House of Representatives.

WALCOTT. Blindfolded.

By Earle Ashley Walcott. With eight illustrations by Alice Barber Stephens. 12mo, cloth, ornamental cover $1.50

Blindfolded is a romantic story, chock full of adventurous mystery. Who? Which? What? How? When? Why? Where? Whence? Whither?—These are the questions Giles Dudley asked when he landed in San Francisco and was forced at once to act a part without knowing the part he was acting. These are the questions the reader asks while, as ignorant as Giles himself, he gropes blindly down the pathway of the plot. The action starts quickly and is kept on the dead run. Day and night there is something doing. For concentrated mystery there is nothing like Blindfolded.

WALLACE. The City of the King.

By Mrs. Lew Wallace. With twelve full-page half-tone engravings, tinted. 12mo, cloth .....Postage 12c, net, $1.00

Delightfully drawn pictures of life in the old and new Jerusalem; in ancient and modern Palestine.

WELLS. Folly for the Wise.

By Carolyn Wells. Illustrated by Gustave Verbeek, Fanny Y. Cory, Florence Scovel Shinn and Oliver Herford. 12mo, cloth.....Postage 12c, net, $1.00

In this volume has been brought together Miss Wells' wittiest work, and she is by all odds the wittiest writer of her generation. Here we find her inimitable verses on "Compound Zoology;" here, too, she tells the wild animals how to behave and shows us how to know them; gives the people who are always arguing by proverbs a home-thrust in her funny little essays called "Mixed Morals;" and sets the final form to which the good limerick must hereafter attain. It is the most exhilarating book of nonsense ever published.

WELLS. The First Men in the Moon.

By H. G. Wells. Illustrated by E. Hering. 12mo, cloth.....$1.50

Mr. Wells writes to entertain, and in this tale of the invention of "cavorite" and the subsequent remarkable journey made to the moon by its inventor, he has succeeded beyond measure in alternately astounding, convincing and delighting his readers.

WETMORE. Sweepers of the Sea.

By Claude H. Wetmore. Illustrated by G. A. Coffin. 12mo, cloth.....$1 50

This romance of a strange navy is full of the true adventure spirit. Like all the most fascinating stories of invention, its speculations are projections along the line of recent fact, rather than mere creations of fancy. The story is permeated with mystery, with action and with a thrilling similitude of reality. Says the Minneapolis Times: "Mr. Wetmore has the genius of Jules Verne and can make the improbable seem the actual."

WHITLOCK. The Thirteenth District.

By Brand Whitlock. 12mo, cloth.....$1.50

A realistic western story of love and politics, and a searching study of their influence on character. The author shows, with extraordinary vitality of treatment, the tricks, the heat, the passion, the tumult of the political arena, the weariness and stubbornness of a deadlock, the triumph and strength of love. In speaking of the "The Thirteenth District," Ex-President Cleveland once said: "That book interested me greatly because it deals with matters which persons acquainted with politics know about." Mr. William Dean Howells calls it " the best American political novel that has ever been done."

Her Infinite Variety.

With twelve full-page illustrations in photogravure by Howard Chandler Christy. Decorated by Ralph Fletcher Seymour. 12mo, cloth, in a box.....$1.50

With this novel of love and laughter, Mr. Whitlock has opened a new vein in the mine of humor. The story centers around an effort to pass a bill for woman's suffrage in the Legislature of Illinois. A new theme, good dialogue and happy repartee make the story distinctive, the clearly-drawn characters at once become our friends, and the world-old truth is emphasized anew that the greatest charm of woman is Her Infinite Variety.

"Its whole atmosphere is quite as fascinating as anything we recall in modern light literature."—Philadelphia Record.

The Happy Average.

12mo, cloth.....$1.50

A thoroughly American story of a young man who found himself. Mr. Whitlock here draws interesting characters with the artistic sympathy and fineness for which he is noted. He tells how a young college graduate fell in love with a winsome girl, became engaged to her, went out into the world to fight for a place for himself, which he could ask her to share with him—and won. It is instinct with the essence of ambition.

WINTER. The Prize to the Hardy.

By Alice Winter. With drawings by R. M. Crosby. 12mo, cloth.....$1.50

"The Prize to the Hardy" has the buoyancy, the cheerfulness and the vigor of the new empire where its scene is laid—the great wheat country of the Northwest. The climax is a forest fire, described with a fervor and strength that make it one of the great pictures of modern fiction. If to be swift without obscurity, dramatic without melodrama, and witty without "smartness" render a story excellent, then "The Prize to the Hardy" is one of the best.

Jewel-Weed.

Illustrated by Harrison Fisher. With inlay cover picture by Fisher. 12mo, cloth..$1.50

What will happen when the buoyant, high-spirited and keen-witted young man of family awakes and realizes that he is tied for life to a mere piece of beautiful flesh? That is the question Mrs. Winter answers in her second story of the Great Northwest. She answers it, of course, in her own original way, so clever, so cheerful, so vital and so distinguished. She has a theme worthy of her powers and rises to meet it with fine dramatic sense and insight.

The title is taken from the first portion of the book, a comedy founded on the legend of Don Juan, and contains some of the wittiest lines this author has yet given to the world. It is sure to be a perennial favorite as a piece of literary work.

Poetry, were it the rudest, so it be sincere, is the attempt which man makes to render his existence harmonious, the utmost he can do for that end; it springs therefore from his whole feelings, opinions, activity, and takes its character from these. It may be called the music of the whole inner being.—Carlyle.

The text page is surrounded by assorted BORDER DESIGNS, also done in COLORS, further adding to the attractiveness of the work.

Bound in an unique manner with JAPANESE CRETONNE, on the cover of which is attached a REAL "LIVE" JAP DOLL. Enclosed in a box covered with imported FANCY PAPER DESIGNS OF JAPANESE FIGURES. 4to, price, $1.25

SEEM-SO'S

Illustrations and text

By L. J. BRIDGMAN

Author of "Guess," "Guess Again," etc., etc.

A juvenile entirely novel and original in character. Figures often cast queer shadows, and this is the key-note of the book. On the right-hand page will be found a shadow, perhaps of an elephant, perhaps of a pump, or perhaps even a camel. On the next page, however, will be found the real figures. The results are certainly comic, and will appeal to the childish reader. Clever little verses by the illustrator accompany the pictures.

PRINTED IN COLORS, and bound in JUMPER CLOTH, COVER DESIGN in COLORS, INLAID. 4to, price, 75 cents

KEWTS

Illustrations and text by L. J. Bridgman

The varied industries of the States are the background for the antics of the Kewts. The flat tint maps placed under the text are made upon the same scale, and so one cannot but appreciate at once the difference in size and shape of the different States. Altogether, the book must leave in the mind of a child much desirable information, but, as before stated, the main object is to make an amusing and interesting series of adventures of some very human little chaps. Illustrations and text by L. J. Bridgman. Bound in cloth, with humorous design back and front in inks. Size 8½ x 10⅝. Illustrations and Text in Color.

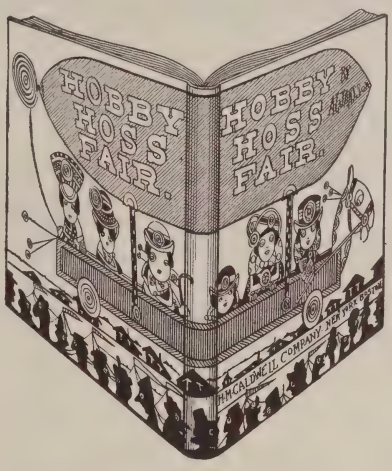
The
HOBBY HOSS FAIR
Illustrations and Text by A. L. JANSSON



The
HOBBY HOSS FAIR
Illustrations and Text by A. L. JANSSON

Mr. Jansson's drawings are well known to the public, and his many inimitable posters, drawn in his own peculiar style, always attract the widest attention. This is his first book, and he has spared neither time nor pains to make it not only equal his best poster work, but the most successful, novel, and attractive juvenile ever published for very young people.

The "Hobby Hoss Fair" pictures an up-to-date county fair in which representatives of all nationalities and all animals related to the "hobby hoss" are introduced. Each verse forms an acrostic of words of not over three or four letters, and are as clever in themselves as the author's drawings.

The illustrations and borders are handsomely reproduced in many colors. Size, 9½ x 12. Double covers. Boards.

ANIMAL AUTOBIOGRAPHICAL SERIES

ILLUSTRATED

A series of new and copyright autobiographical stories of various animals familiar to all as pets and inmates of the farmyard. Each animal tells his own story entirely, and as far as possible the incidents are taken from life. "Black Beauty" has probably had more to do in bringing kindness into the lives of horses than any other book ever written, and often has been called the "Uncle Tom's Cabin" of the horse. The volumes in this series will each inculcate kindness toward dumb animals in the mind of the child by showing that our pets have feelings as well as ourselves. Unlike so many of the animal stories of the day, however, they are not people simply dressed in animal attire, but each story, being a careful study of the pet's life and manners by the author, carries out as far as possible the thoughts the animal itself would have if he were able to tell his own story.

Each volume is printed on extra fine laid paper, with frontispiece in color, and fully illustrated in half-tone by the best artists, excepting where possible photographs taken from life are used. 12mo.

Bound in cloth with an appropriate inlay for the subject. Price, each, $1.25

1 PUP, The Autobiography of a GREYHOUND

By OLLIE HURD BRAGDON. Illustrations from photographs.

Mrs. Bragdon has here given us a true and most readable story of her greyhound. The volume abounds in interest throughout, and it is safe to say the book will not be laid aside until "Pup" at the end finds his brother and mother, from whom he was stolen while a small puppy, and proves his worth to the blue ribbons he receives in the shows.

2 YOPPY, The Autobiography of a MONKEY

By MOLLIE LEE CLIFFORD. Illustrated by L. J. Bridgman.

The organ-grinder's monkey is familiar to all children, but they only see his life from what seems the bright side, but in this entertaining book it will be found his life is not so bright as his little red coat. At last, however, he reaches his comfortable home again, where he is forever up to mischievous tricks.

3 NEDDY, The Autobiography of a DONKEY

By GERTRUDE SELLON. Edited by Charles Welsh. Illustrated by L. J. Bridgman.

An interesting account of a donkey, the pet of the family, and especially of his young mistress. He is stolen, and his return to his home shows more sagacity than a donkey is usually credited with. It is a true story, and vouched for on good authority.

4 POLLY, The Autobiography of a PARROT

By MOLLIE LEE CLIFFORD. Illustrated by L. J. Bridgman.

An entertaining story of the life of a parrot, from his birth in South America, to the time he reaches a home where loving care is always given him. A mischievous bird, but possessing much common sense, and as to his vocabulary, — well, read the book, — it is a true story, too.

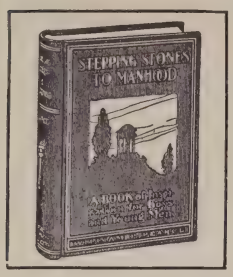
Stepping Stones to Manhood



By William P. Pearce

With Introductions by Thirty Prominent Americans

THE author has been particularly happy in his treatment of the great principles which constitute true manhood. With apt story and entertaining anecdote he emphasizes his points brightly and strikingly. Excellent books of this character have failed because not attractive to those to whom they were addressed. There is nothing didactive or dry about this volume. It is as interesting as a novel. Each of the thirty chapters has a brief introduction by some such well-known man as George C. Lorimer, D. D., Wayland Hoyt, D. D., Bishop C. C. McCabe, Robert J. Burdette, Marshall Field, John Clark Ridpath, Anthony Comstock, each of whom is peculiarly qualified to speak on that particular subject. Ministers, teachers, Sunday School and ethical workers, and all who have to do with the young, will also find the book a mine of suggestion and usefulness.

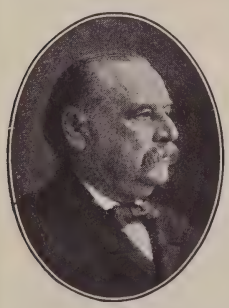
FRANCIS E. CLARK, D. D.,

The Founder of Christian Endeavor:

"An admirable book to put into the hands of young men. I am very glad it does not blink out of sight the religious motive. It supplements the great ideas of manliness, honor and truth by furnishing a motive power of the highest and most compelling sort."

FROM THE OUTLOOK

"This book is precisely what its title page affirms it to be. 'A book of inspiration.' It is not merely good to read, but certain to be read by those it is written for, if they get hold of it. Every man or woman who reads it will be prompted to put it in the list of most helpful gift books."



Ex-President GROVER CLEVELAND:

"It is a valuable work and must accomplish a very high mission if put in the hands of the youth and young men of our land."

FROM THE CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE, NEW YORK.

"Will have a beneficial effect upon the lives of boys . . . . Covers a very wide range of important matters, concerning which the average young man needs stimulating instruction, and each chapter has a brief introduction by some well-known man . . . . a unique idea, and gives point to the principles the author lays down."

THEODORE L. CUYLER, D. D.,

The Famous Preacher and Devotional Writer:

"All the youth in America owe a debt of hearty gratitude to Mr. William P. Pearce for having written the best practical book of its kind that has appeared in many a day. Every word is pure gold. A million copies of it ought to be circulated."

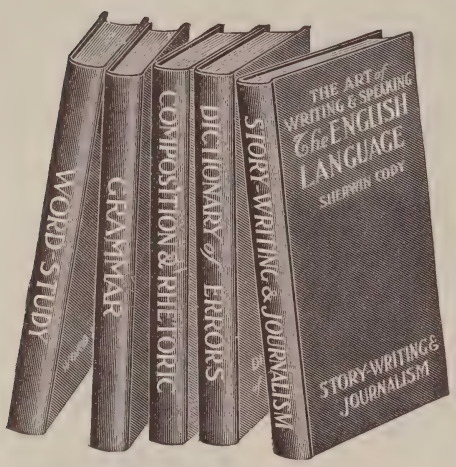
FROM THE CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR WORLD.

"Certainly no other book for boys and young men, dealing with the elements of success, is superior to this. Beyond all, we are pleased to see Jesus Christ exalted in this book, with many a strong exhortation to be a Christian. Why is this greatest essential of true success so often omitted from books of this class?"

Cloth bound volume of 350 pages with illuminated cover. Price, $1.50

GOOD ENGLISH PAYS!

The Art of Writing and Speaking the English Language



By SHERWIN CODY

Vol. II. Grammar and Punctuation

"Crisp, simple, direct. . . . Your notion of simplifying grammar is worthy of the widest publicity." — E. Benj. Andrews.

Vol. III. Composition and Rhetoric (Franklin's Method). The surest and quickest way to get the knack of using words effectively.

This book is for the most part a reprint of Mr. Cody's famous Art of Short Story-Writing and How to Write Fiction, of which Zangwill said: "It is the most sensible treatise on the short story that has yet appeared in England, a country that has not yet learned that story-writing is an art, and a rare and fine art."

Dictionary of Errors

Grammar, Letter-Writing, Pronunciation, Spelling, Use of Words

This book is small enough to study and master, yet large enough to point out all the errors you would really like to correct in your speech and letter-writing. It has the meat of half a dozen big books all rolled into one — a marvel of condensation and practical usefulness.

It is uniform with the Art of Writing and Speaking the English Language, being another volume in that series.

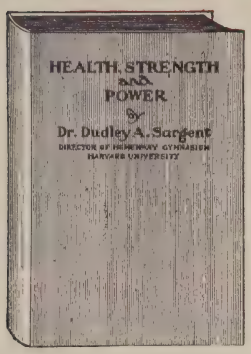
The New Authoritative Work on Physical Culture

HEALTH, STRENGTH and POWER

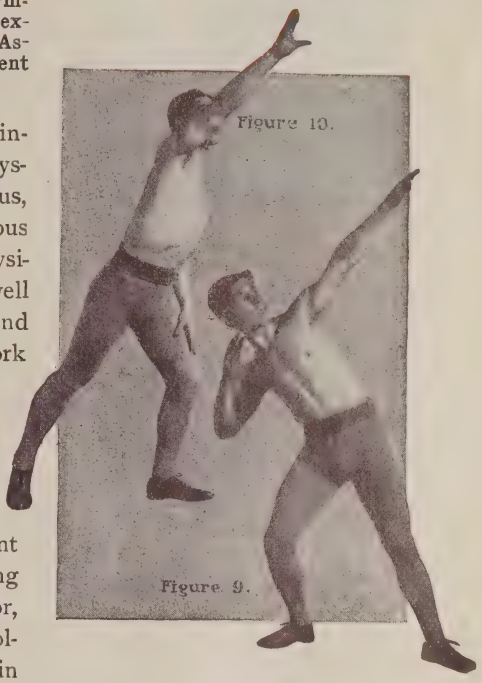
By

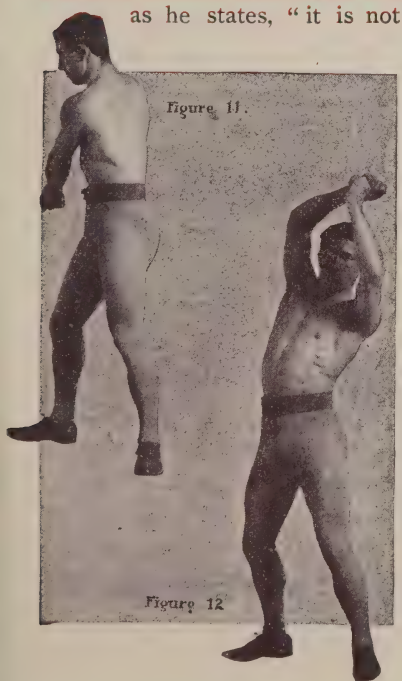
DUDLEY ALLEN SARGENT, A. M., Sc. D., M. D.



Director of Hemenway Gymnasium, Harvard University, ex-President of the American Association for the Advancement of Physical Culture

Doctor Sargent's many inventions of the modern system of gymnasium apparatus, together with his numerous articles and papers on physical training, are so well known that a new and thoroughly up-to-date work on Physical Culture by an author who is without doubt the recognized authority on the subject will command immediate interest. The general public are becoming more and more enthused on the science of cultivating Health and Strength. In this work Doctor Sargent has aimed to make it even more popular by devising a series of exercises which require no apparatus whatever, for, as he states, "it is not the athletic or college student in whose life physical activity plays a considerable part, but the professional or business man, who leads a sedentary life, and has no longer the incentive of youth nor spirit of athletic rivalry to urge him on."



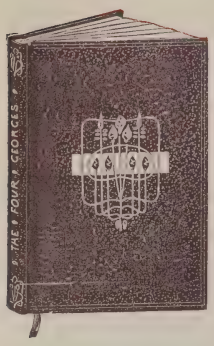


Doctor Sargent has been director of Harvard's gymnasium since 1879, and his work there has made the students of the university, as a body — apart from those who engage in college athletics — probably the best physically equipped young men to be found anywhere. His exercises and methods have been adopted all over the world. Not only was most of the gymnastic apparatus now in general use invented by him and the manner of its use of his contriving, but many of the various drills devised to give exercise without the use of any more complicated mechanical assistance than dumb-bells and Indian Clubs.

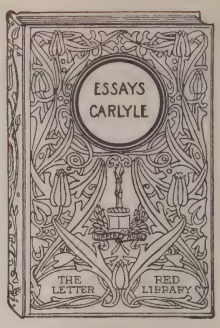
With over one hundred half-tone illustrations from original photographs furnished by the author. 12mo, cloth, limp cover. Price, $1.75 net

Full flexible leather. Price, $3.00

The Red Letter Library



We take pleasure in announcing that we have made arrangements with Messrs. Blackie & Son of Glasgow and London, whereby we have secured the American rights for all volumes now published, or which may hereafter be published, in their Red Letter Library. The reception accorded the series abroad, as published by them, has been most flattering. The volumes embrace the poetical masterpieces of the English language, as well as typical and representative works of the greatest of our prose writers.



Each volume is complete in itself, and contains a vignette introduction, biographical and critical, by an authority of the highest repute. The books are neat, compact, clearly printed, and handsomely bound.

The paper has been specially made for the series. The text is printed in two colors, — red and black, — giving the page a bright, and at the same time tasteful, appearance. Each volume has a frontispiece illustration, reproduced in half-tone, and framed in an appropriate decorative design by Mr. Talwin Morris. The title-page and end papers also in color, and cover design in gold, and by the same artist. Size, 4 x 6. Bound in two styles. Limp leather, gilt top. Price, $1.00

THE HOUSE OF LIFE

By Dante Gabriel Rossetti

Rossetti in the second edition of his poems altered many sonnets of "The House of Life," in deference to what he knew to be unjust and even absurd strictness, and went so far as to exclude one of the most beautiful. In this edition the suppressed sonnet has been restored, and the reading of the first editions, 1870, followed to the letter, while the new sonnets are an exact reprint of the edition of 1881, — the first time they appeared in print.

Border designs of an original character on each page, large initial letters, and cover design made by Marion L. Peabody. Original photogravure frontispiece by Marcel.

Size, 6¾ x 8¼. Bound in white vellum, double cover design stamped in gold, boxed. Net, price, $2.50

Special edition limited to twenty-six lettered copies.

Bound in full English mottled calf, various colors, cushion covers, round corners, full gold edges. Net, price, $5.00

Sonnets from the Portuguese

By Elizabeth Barrett Browning

"The noblest anthology for noble lovers which our language has to show," and well worthy of selection as the second volume of the "Sapere Aude Edition." The version followed is that of the complete text of the Sonnets printed from the latest London edition, and the same care has been taken to make it as perfect an example of bookmaking in every way as "The House of Life." The border designs, large initial letters, and cover design is the work of Adrian J. Iorio. Original photogravure frontispiece by Marcel.

Size, 6¾ x 8¼. Bound in white vellum, double cover design stamped in gold, boxed. Net, price, $2.50

Special edition limited to twenty-six lettered copies.

The Legends of Parsifal

By Mary Hanford Ford

There has long been a demand for a concise and careful account of Wagner's version of Parsifal and a comparison of the other accounts of the same legend. This want Mrs. Ford has undertaken to fulfil, and has done so most acceptably, stating the facts accurately and at the same time perfectly clearly. She has made a careful study for many years of the Holy Grail in all its versions, and has been a most successful lecturer on this subject, so her book will come as a welcome authority on what has always seemed a rather complexing matter to the general reader. The book is attractively bound in cloth with the Holy Grail as the central figure. Embossed in gold.

PIPE AND POUCH The Smoker's Own Book of Poetry

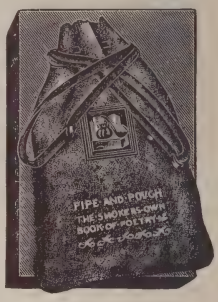
Compiled by Joseph Knight. With frontispiece illustration



This somewhat unique little volume of collected verse, gathered by Joseph Knight, is the result of many years' gleaning from a great variety of sources of all the best verse devoted to praise of the weed. It will be a matter of surprise to most readers to find how much has been written that is clever and bright on the theme of smoking. From the time of Raleigh and Spenser to the present day, not only the writers of lighter verse, but the more dignified of the poets have turned aside to sing of what one of the oldest of them called "The Plant of Great Renown."

Ben King's Verse

Thirtieth Thousand

Edited by Nixon Waterman Biography of Ben King by Opie Read Introduction by John McGovern

Ben'l King

If I Should Die To-Night

If I should die to-night
And you should come to my cold corpse and say,
Weeping and heartsick o'er my lifeless clay—
If I should die to-night
And you should come in deepest grief and woe
And say, "Here's that ten dollars that I owe"—
I might arise in my large white cravat
And say, "What's that?"

If I should die to-night
And you should come to my cold corpse and kneel,
Clasping my bier to show the grief you feel—
I say, if I should die to-night
And you should come to me, and there and then
Just even hint 'bout payin' me that ten,
I might arise the while;
But I'd drop dead again.

Sonnets from the Portuguese. By ELIZABETH BARRETT BROWNING. 1

In the "Sonnets from the Portuguese," a most exquisite series of love poems, we have Mrs. Browning at her best. She has broken away from that stiffness and artificiality which characterizes her earlier poems, and in sentiment and lofty rhyme is at times truly Shakespearian.

Virginibus Puerisque. By ROBERT LOUIS STEVENSON. 2

Since, unfortunately, most of our juvenile literature nowadays is the work of "hack" writers, it is refreshing to find a work for boys and girls written by a man of genius. "Virginibus Puerisque" stands high among Mr. Stevenson's writings, and is enjoyed by both old and young.

Friendship and Love. By RALPH WALDO EMERSON. 3

Mr. Emerson is no bookish theorist. He does not draw his conclusions from syllogisms, but from his personal observations of men and things. The essays on Friendship and Love, two of his most human, being subjects akin to each other, are published together as a single volume.

Heroism and Character. By RALPH WALDO EMERSON. 4

As Friendship and Love are linked, so Heroism and Character are complementary. In fact, we perceive a strong connection between the four subjects. For friendship deepens in love, and from love for one's neighbor, one's family, one's State, comes heroism, and heroism is the essential element of a noble character.

Poor Richard's Almanac. By BENJAMIN FRANKLIN. 5

A selection of the best sayings from the numerous issues of "Poor Richard." Helpful and inspiring; the work of a most practical mind, written for a most practical nation.

The School for Scandal. By SHERIDAN. 6

Sheridan's comedies are second only to Shakespeare's. "The School for Scandal," undoubtedly his masterpiece, has had an undiminished popularity from the moment it was published to the present day.

Destruction of Pompeii. By PLINY AND BULWER. 7

Two interesting descriptions of the Destruction of Pompeii: one by Pliny, the greatest scientist of the ancient world, who wrote as an eye-witness; the other the well-known and thrilling account from Lord Lytton's "Last Days of Pompeii."

Sir Roger de Coverley Papers. By ADDISON. 8

The famous "Sir Roger de Coverley Papers" are not only treasured by all students of English literature, but by historians as well. For nowhere do we find a finer description of English life in the eighteenth century than in these papers. Furthermore, in the character of Sir Roger we find the finest delineation in English literature of an ideal gentleman.

Thoughts of Marcus Aurelius. SELECTIONS. 9

Marcus Aurelius was the purest and loftiest of the pagan philosophers. "His great work, 'The Thoughts,'" says Lecky, "not only forms one of the most impressive, but also forms one of the truest books in the whole range of religious literature."

Lord Chesterfield's Letters. SELECTIONS. 10
These letters of sound counsel and practical advice, addressed to his son Philip, are what Lord Chesterfield's reputation rests upon, and it is through these that the name of Chesterfield has become symbolic of culture and refinement.

Rubaiyat of Omar Khayyam. 11
The "Rubaiyat of Omar Khayyam" is one of the greatest contributions that the East has given to literature. The subtle thought, the soft Oriental imagery, and the delicacy of the poetry will appeal to the poetic imagination of all ages.

Milton. BY LORD MACAULAY. 12
A profound and masterly essay on the leader of English literature of the seventeenth century by the leading literary critic of the nineteenth century.

Enoch Arden. BY ALFRED, LORD TENNYSON. 13
In "Enoch Arden" we have one of the most beautiful and pathetic poems in the English language. Had Tennyson never written another line, he would have gone down in history as one of the greatest poets of his time.

Rip Van Winkle and The Legend of Sleepy Hollow. BY WASHINGTON IRVING. 14
These immortal stories of Dutch life in colonial New York are the best pieces of writing that Mr. Irving contributed to literature. The pathos, quaintness, and wit are impressed upon the reader in a striking way.

Rochefoucauld's Maxims. 15
These maxims, written by a cavalier of Richelieu's times, one who knew the world as few have an opportunity of knowing it, are witty, subtle, and true. The author has grasped the whole of life, and weakness of human nature, of fashion and conventionalities are strongly depicted.

Rab and His Friends. BY DR. JOHN BROWN. 16
"Rab and His Friends," a story of a mastiff, full of beauty and pathos, is, in its line, only rivalled by "Black Beauty." In this volume the story of Marjorie Fleming, an interesting case of remarkable precociousness, is also published.

She Stoops to Conquer. BY OLIVER GOLDSMITH. 17
"She Stoops to Conquer" is a comedy abounding in the keenest wit and satire. Human nature is depicted by a masterly observer, and the characters of the play are true to life.

Old Christmas. BY WASHINGTON IRVING. 18
An ideal picture of an old-fashioned Christmas in rural England. The good old customs, and the quaint games handed down from generation to generation, are pictured in a most interesting manner.

Vision of Sir Launfal. BY JAMES RUSSELL LOWELL. 19
This great poem is drawn from the famous romance of King Arthur and the Holy Grail, a theme which has furnished inspiration to so many great minds. The "Vision of Sir Launfal" is the best of Lowell's shorter poems.

Leaves of Grass. SELECTIONS. BY WALT WHITMAN. 20
Walt Whitman is looked upon as the one distinctive American poet, the product of our New World democracy. Though perhaps lacking in grace, his poems are inspired by his enthusiasm and humanitarianism, and in every line the reader sees the personality of the poet, — noble, generous, and lofty, — a great man in the highest sense of the word.

Elegy and Other Poems. BY THOMAS GRAY. 21
The "Elegy in a Country Churchyard" occupies as secure a place among English classics as "Hamlet" or "Paradise Lost," but some readers may not realize that several other poems by Gray are equally perfect and impressive. This collection contains all of Gray's verse which is really worth knowing.

Sweetness and Light. BY MATTHEW ARNOLD. 22
An epoch-making essay, by one of the most cultured, practical, and inspiring minds of our century. Arnold's simplicity and charm of style, no less than his weighty message, have already given him an assured place among classic writers.

Golden Thoughts. BY ARCHBISHOP FENELON. 23
Judiciously made extracts from the letters of the great archbishop. Fenelon united in his personality the sweetness of the saint with the strength of the reformer, and his personal correspondence contains the very heart and soul of religious devotion.

Wit and Wisdom. BY SIDNEY SMITH. 24
Extracts from Smith's writing and conversations, which flash with repartee, good-tempered satire and brilliant strokes of wit, and are characterized throughout by shrewd, irresistible common sense. The comments on America and Americans are alone worth the price of the little book.

A Christmas Carol. BY CHARLES DICKENS. 25
This familiar story possesses perennial interest for young and old, and it never has been presented in more attractive form. Whether regarded as a ghost story, a character study, or a parable, the "Christmas Carol" is one of the most brilliant and absorbing tales in English literature.

Will o' the Mill and Biographical Sketch. By R. L. Stevenson. 26

This little parable of a life contains a wonderful moral and is also an irresistibly fascinating story in itself, written in the most exquisite English. Many critics think it Stevenson's masterpiece. It is prefaced by a careful and adequate biographical sketch.

Men and Women. By Robert Browning. 27

Browning is known the world over for his deep-veined humanity and rare faculty of dramatic representation. These poems have as much red blood in them as the dramas of Shakespeare. The present volume contains all the principal favorites which have sung themselves into the memory of every reader who loves vigorous, manly poetry.

Napoleon Addresses and Anecdotes. 28

Napoleon was not only a consummate genius as general and ruler, he was also a man of extraordinary personality. So much of his magnetism and personal charm is preserved in these anecdotes and speeches, that we become completely en rapport with the great emperor, and cannot fail to share the enthusiasm of his contemporaries. The selections were made with greatest care especially for this edition.

Passion in the Desert, and an Episode in the Reign of Terror. Selected Prose Works of Honore de Balzac. 29

Balzac is thought by many competent authorities to be the greatest novelist of the world. His short stories are quite as remarkable in their way as his longer stories, and the very best of them are to be found in the present collection.

Poems of Sentiment. By Byron. 30

Probably no poet in the English-speaking world has ever held as high and well recognized a position as a "sentimentalist" as George Gordon, Lord Byron. His master lyrics dealing with the subject of love, consisting principally of his shorter poems, have been selected and edited with the greatest care for this edition.

Some Fruits of Solitude. Reflections and Maxims. By William Penn. 31

"To quote a book like this were impossible; at least one can hand it on, with a wrench, one to another. Some of the 'Fruits' are sounder, juicier, and grown against a sunnier wall of experience than others, but all are delicate, and the little basket which holds them will be found in all times and places a peaceful and sweet companion." — Robert Louis Stevenson.

Letters to a Young Man about Town. By William Makepeace Thackeray. 32

These charming but comparatively little known essays originally appeared in Punch, and, until the present edition, have been reissued in a volume by themselves but once, and then in a privately printed book now extremely rare. In his humorous and satirical manner, Thackeray shows up the follies and life of a young man about town in the middle of the nineteenth century.

Golden Wings. A Prose Romance and a Poem. By William Morris. 33

Two early productions of Morris's with the same title. The Prose Romance, written in 1856 while still a student at Oxford, and the Poem two years later, both of which show the irresistible and quaint charm apparent in all the later writings of this architect, painter, designer, craftsman, socialist, and author, — who, on the death of Tennyson, was thought by many would be the next Poet Laureate.

Selected Poems. By John Boyle O'Reilly. 34

Through several causes, but not lack of merit, Boyle O'Reilly is fast becoming merely a name to the generation of to-day. Therefore, pains have here been taken to perpetuate the choicest productions of his pen, — poems worthy of rank with the masterpieces of English literature. The volume is prefaced with an interesting personal sketch of O'Reilly, by Mr. William A. Hovey.

The Discourses of Epictetus. Selections. 35

In Sir John Lubbock's "List of the One Hundred Best Books," the Bible is first, the "Thoughts of Marcus Aurelius" second, and "Epictetus" third. The discourses here given have been carefully selected, and in each case the English revised with utmost care.

Evangeline. By Henry Wadsworth Longfellow. 36

The purity, sweetness, and refinement with which Longfellow delineates the affections of the heart make his poetry the most welcome of visitants at the domestic fireside, and of all his poems, "Evangeline" is probably the most popular.

The Holy Grail. By Alfred, Lord Tennyson. 37

This idyl, which must rank as one of the greatest of Tennyson's poetical achievements, came to him suddenly, "as if by a breath of inspiration." Of it the poet said, "I feared for years to touch the subject of the Holy Grail, and when I began, finished it in a fortnight."

Atala. By François René Auguste Chateaubriand. With a biographical sketch of the author. 38

A tale of an Indian maiden, charmingly written by one who in the old colonial days traversed the solitary wilds of North America, and who is a lover of nature and quaint Indian lore.

Armande. By Edmond and Jules de Goncourt. Translated by Alfred E. Haserick and with an introduction by W. D. Orcutt. 39

Of the Brothers Goncourt, Victor Hugo says, "Charming writers, two minds from which springs a single jet of genius." Armande is their masterpiece.

Corsair and Lara. By Lord Byron. With an introduction by M. F. Sweetser. 40

The extraordinary interest at the present time in Byron demands that two of his complete works be presented in this series. No better understanding of this "wild child of nature" can be obtained than in Corsair and Lara.

The Gold Bug. By Edgar Allan Poe. With a biographical sketch of the author. 41

A story of great effect and absorbing interest, one of those rare books that once opened is not closed until the last paragraph is finished.

Juliet and Romeo. From the Italian of Luigi da Porto. With an introductory essay by Dr. W. J. Rolfe. 42

A translation of the original story from which Shakespeare conceived the plot of "Romeo and Juliet." This edition is edited by Dr. W. J. Rolfe, the greatest living authority on Shakespeare.

L'Arlesienne. By Alphonse Daudet. With a biographical sketch by M. F. Sweetser. 43

L'Arlesienne is the best of Daudet's dramas, and is responsible for his fame as a playwright as well as a novelist.

Manon Lescaut. Vol. I. By L'Abbé Prévost. With an introduction by M. F. Sweetser. 44

Manon Lescaut. Vol. II. 45

Not only in French, but in the emotional literature of our world has Manon Lescaut taken a classical place, and is a profound lesson drawn from weakness of human nature.

Paul and Virginia. By Bernardin de St. Pierre. With a biographical sketch of the author. 46

One of the most beautiful works in romantic literature, a production which gave St. Pierre everlasting fame.

Peter Schlemihl. By Adelbert von Chamisso. With a biographical sketch of the author. 47

This fantastic tale has attained world-wide fame. Founded on the old superstition that the devil could take a man's shadow, poor Peter is driven from town to town and wanders over the whole world. To the young this story appeals as a fairy-tale, but for others it has a deep ethical significance.

Werther. By J. W. von Goethe. With a biographical sketch of the author. 48

To appreciate the romantic and sentimental nature of the mighty Goethe one must read Werther. Though o'ershadowed by the author's other works, yet Werther alone would have made him immortal.

Undine. By Friedrich, Baron de La Motte-Fouqué 49

The charming and graceful narrative, Undine, is a gem in German literature. It breathes of the fresh fragrance of the woods, and is animated by beautiful thoughts that people the sea and air with nymphs and spirits.

Tales of a Wayside Inn. By HENRY WADSWORTH LONGFELLOW. 50

A long cherished plan of Longfellow's, containing some of the best of his shorter poems, the first part of which was brought out in 1863, and which met with immediate success. One poem, that of the "Midnight Ride of Paul Revere," is perhaps Longfellow's most famous short poem.

The King of the Golden River. By JOHN RUSKIN. 51

"The King of the Golden River" was written in 1841, at the request of a very young lady, and solely for her amusement, without any idea of publication. Later, with the passive assent of Ruskin, the charming allegory was publicly printed, and literature is thereby the gainer of this most pleasing little work.

Love Letters of a Violinist. By ERIC MACKAY. 52

Originally published in England, with the name of the author suppressed, these charming love sonnets created much discussion as to authorship, some even claiming they were the work of Swinburne, — from whom only it seemed could originate the fertility of thought, grace of language, ingenuity, skill in the ars poetica, wealth of words, and classic resources.

Sketches of Young Couples. By CHARLES DICKENS. 53

Some of the earlier sketches of the immortal Dickens, in which, however, are seen the clear and wonderful characterization unequalled by any other modern author, and even unsurpassed in his later and better known works. His people live before you.
